SAN FRANCISCO'S DEAD AND INJURED

Gen. Greeley Places the Number
Smaller Than Thought.

Plan to Rebuild Wrecked City on Improved Lines is Under Way.

MUCH IMPORTANT WORLD NEWS

San Francisco, April 28.—Official figures of the dead and injured by the earthquake here, as made public by General Greeley, show 295 bodies recovered and 593 injured, of whom 150 are seriously hurt. Plans for rebuilding the city on new lines is taking form. Supervisors are already receiving numerous applications for building permits. Temporary one-story structures are going up in many parts of the city. A general widening of the downtown streets is likely.

The Health Conditions Good.
Washington, April 28.—General Greeley's reports from San Francisco say health continues unusually good without any signs of an epidemic.

Relief supplies are arriving in enormous quantities, threatening congestion. The railway difficulties regarding storage are daily increasing. Sanitation considered at present the most critical phase. The water supply is increasing in the city though a water failure threatens at Fresno.

Chicago's Generous Donation.
Chicago, April 28.—This is San Francisco day in Chicago and 2,000 policemen are soliciting relief funds in a house to house canvass. Generous responses are being made and it is expected Chicago's fund will be increased to a million dollars.

A Child Burned With Home.
Mantoloke, N. Y., April 28.—The home of Carlita Pittsley burned this morning while Pittsley and wife were at the barn. A six-year-old son perished. The parents saw the child through a window but were powerless to rescue him.

MYSTERIOUS CASE

YOUNG MAN FOUND IN A ROOM
STABBED IN BUREAU.

Says It Was Accident of His Own,
but This is Doubtful.

Edward Lathern, of Mt. Vernon, Ind., a young man who has been in Paducah several weeks, is in Riverside hospital the result of an accidental cutting, it is said. The young man was found in a room at Fannie Wilson's place on West Kentucky avenue this morning about 4 o'clock, by one of the inmates. He was stabbed just under the heart, and an alarm brought an officer and a doctor. He was removed to Riverside hospital after the wound was dressed. The wound is not deep and it is not thought to be serious.

It is said that he was drinking or had been, and the cutting has never been thoroughly investigated. The young man has nothing to say of the affair except that he cut himself accidentally.

There are some who think he attempted suicide and others that he was cut in a fight.

Distinguished Honor Shown to One of Stone and Webster's Men.

Mr. Grant the local manager for Messrs. Stone & Webster's electric properties at Seattle Wash., has been appointed by the state of Massachusetts to take charge of the distribution of the food and other supplies purchased and contributed for the relief of San Francisco sufferers. The contribution runs into the millions and the fact that one of Stone & Webster's men has been selected by the great state of Massachusetts to represent them in such

LADY'S EYE INJURED.

Mrs. C. F. Akers Hurt With Rock
Thrown By Boy.

Mrs. C. F. Akers, wife of the well known I. C. machinist was injured yesterday afternoon at her home, 1626 Jones street. Mrs. Akers was standing in her yard when a rock, thrown by some careless boy in the street, struck her in the left eye. The orb was painfully bruised but the sight is not thought to have been permanently injured. The boys denied throwing the rock, and no blame can be attached to any particular one. The police have notified the boys that a continuance of the practice will mean arrest.

Indiana Postoffice Robbed.
Avila, Ind., April 28.—The postoffice safe was blown this morning. The robbers escaped with $600 and a quantity of stamps. The explosion was heard by one man but he was afraid to venture forth until daylight.

POSTAL MATTERS

NEW LETTER CARRIER GOES TO WORK IN PADUCAH.

Examinations to Be Held—Change of Times Means Earlier Mail Collections.

E. C. Hollins, substitute carrier in the local postoffice, was today appointed a regular carrier on Route No. 4, to succeed Jesse Curd, resigned. Mr. Curd resigned several days ago to go to Oklahoma to locate, and Hollins is next in line for promotion. This will leave the position of substitute vacant, but it is thought the position will remain open but a short time. April 4 examination returns are expected shortly and it is thought that out of five applicants who stood the examinations here, at least one successful one will be announced. He will be given the place of substitute.

More Examinations.
Mr. Fred Ashton, civil service examiner for this district, this morning received authority for more examinations. They will be held as follows: Draftsman in the land office service, June 6-7; mechanic, May 23-24; interpreter, (Syrian, Greek, Bulgarian) male, in the immigration service.

Tomorrow the change in the schedule of the Paducah-Cairo reconnection passenger train will necessitate changes in the collection of mail for Chicago at the postoffice. The train leaves beginning with Sunday at 6:15 and all mail for St. Louis and Chicago in the afternoon will have to be in the postoffice before 5:15 o'clock. Formerly it could be in as late as 6:15.

Reject Proposal.
Wilkesbarre, Pa., April 28.—The operators have refused the miners' proposition for a settlement of their differences, which would allow all probability of a strike among the anthracite men. The miners express no surprise over the fact and boldly say the operators are indifferent as to whether there is peace or not. The miners still hope for an acceptance of their terms of compromise through the operators talk to the contrary. They express willingness only to arbitrate the matter, as proposed.

Thirty Chinamen Drowned.
Singapore, S. S., April 28.—The steamer Haversham, bound for Odessa with 3,000 Russian soldiers aboard, collided with a Bengtson local steamer in the Strait of Malacca. The Bengtson was sunk and thirty Chinese drowned. Seventy-one persons were saved.

an undertaking shows the caliber of men that they employ. Messrs. Stone & Webster have given Mr. Grant instructions to drop all other business and give his entire time for the present to the work of distributing the supplies which he is to buy with the money placed at his disposal and to keep the people of Massachusetts advised of the necessities of the people. Mr. Grant is remembered in Paducah. He visited here last summer on a trip from Boston to Seattle.

WILL MEET TONIGHT.

Jury in Case of Miami McChesney to Return Verdict.

Justice Charles Emery who officiated in the place of Coroner Frank Baker in the inquest over the remains of Miami McChesney, colored, who died several weeks ago, the result of alleged morphine poisoning, stated this morning that he would call the jury together tonight and render a verdict. The jury heard all evidence in the matter and was adjourned indefinitely pending an analysis of the woman's stomach. It was alleged she had taken morphine when she thought it was quinine. The analytical expert in Louisville has been slow in his work, and Justice Emery stated a verdict would be formed tonight, the matter having been postponed long enough. It is understood that the expert will render a report not later than Monday night.

THE STATE T. P. A.

HEADQUARTERS OF ASSOCIATION TO BE RETURNED HERE.

Result of Understanding With Louisville—Locals Preparing for Approaching Convention.

The headquarters for the state T. P. A. will be moved to Paducah this year to remain two years and all officers who are elected to positions in the state organization will be Paducah men.

The state convention will be held in Paducah on the 5th and tonight the local post "A" will meet to decide on a list of eligibles. There will be a full attendance and a great deal of interest is being taken in the work. The candidates successful in the balloting tonight will doubtless be elected to the state offices. The committees are working out the entertainment plans. The visitors will be tendered a big banquet at the Palmer and other plans are being mapped out for the convenience and entertainment of the visitors.

The headquarters and business meeting of the state association will be at the Post A headquarters over the Commercial club rooms on South Fourth street. Arrangements have been made to have Paducah and Louisville alternate in the headquarters of the state association, Paducah securing it for two years and then Louisville for the next two.

Local drummers are taking a lively interest in the coming state convention.

WORKED A GAME

FOLLOWERS OF COLE'S CHURCH
FOUND SUCKERS ABROAD.

Accused of Having Fleeced a Number at Paris and Murray, Ky.

Operators of a "skin game" are badly wanted by Officers in Murray, Ky., and Paris, Tenn. It is alleged that they "skinned" farmers at those two places out of not less than $500, and there is a great deal of feeling against the men in those cities.

Yesterday when the Cole Brothers' circus came to town the operators of the game set up their apparatus at the show grounds. A monkey was used in the operation, the monkey's duty being to dive down into a bag or receptacle of some kind and procure a numbered ball. There is a cloth hanging up with numbers on it. The player selects a number and pays for his chance. If the monkey pulls out a ball with corresponding number the player wins. If he pulls out a number double the selected figure, the player gets double and if the ball reads lower than that number selected by the player, the player has to come up with the difference.

Chief Collins caught on and gave the men hours to leave town. They left and following their departure came a telephone message from Murray and Paris, Tenn., where the men were the past two days.

On the 8:30 train the sheriff from Murray arrived in Paducah. He had over half a dozen warrants sworn out against the operators of the game and stated that farmers were deceived for about $3,000 alone in Murray. In Paris it is said they fared pretty well, securing not less than $2,000.

JUDGE EVANS SUSTAINS WORTEN

In Position in "Chain Gang" Suits Against City.

Merits of Case Are Sound, Says the Judge, Which Vindicates Wort-ten's Claims.

CASES NOT TO BE PROSECUTED

A ruling by Federal Judge Walter Evans, of Louisville, in the celebrated "chain gang" suits brought against the city, was made this morning. It is just the reverse of the action taken in the state courts, and means that Attorney J. Mark Worten, who brought the suits and put up such a strong fight, has been vindicated in his stand. The suits, if prosecuted, will be decided against the city, it is believed, but Attorney Worten does not desire to push them any further, having made the fight simply for vindication.

Judge Evans holds that the merits of the cases are sound, and overruled the demurrer filed by the city. The action was taken in the three suits brought by Charles Klotter, Elden Stone and Dennis Rowlett, who sued for $10,000 each for the humiliation of being worked on the "chain gang" in payment of fines assessed in police court. The defendant filed demurrers to the merits of the case, alleging that the city had a right to work the prisoners in a work house or on the streets, but Judge Evans in his action overruling the demurrer, does not seem to think so.

History of Cases.

When Paducah went into cities of the second class Attorney J. M. Worten was city solicitor. He advised against working prisoners fined in police court on the streets, but the city failed to uphold him in his view of the matter. Prisoners were worked on the "chain gang" and Attorney Worten brought suits for several of them. The allegations set forth are that the city has to provide a workhouse under second class charters in which to work prisoners.

The suits were filed in circuit court and fought to the appellate court which decided against the plaintiffs. Attorney Worten, intent on vindicating himself, brought them in the federal court, and the defendant entered a demurrer to the merits of the petitions. This action was taken over a year ago, and had been under advisement since. The court decided now in overruling the demurrer that the grounds are sufficient, which in itself is a victory for the attorney.

Attorney's Statement.

"I want to say this in regard to the suits," Attorney Worten stated. "I have been fought hard by the city and the only reason I have continued the fight was to vindicate myself; and I think I have beyond a doubt done so. The court has sustained my allegations, saying that I have good grounds; in plain words that the city has no right to work prisoners on the street.

"When I was city solicitor I advised against working prisoners on the street. We discussed the matter informally and a committee even went out inspect a site for a proposed work house. Contrary advice prevailed and the work house was never built. Prisoners who had been worked on the streets came to me and I brought suit. I lost in the state court but still adhering to my original ideas, I brought the suits in federal court. I consider now that I have won and intend to push the matter no further.

"It is a fact that I brought the suits at first with view of financial profit, like any other lawyer would do, but the city and others made me appear in a very bad attitude. I fought to vindicate myself—not to do the city any harm."

The demurrer filed to the petitions in the federal court is identical and the same as that filed in the state courts. It is a matter of opinion in the two courts, but federal court is considered of more weight.

It will be a matter of interest to know that Attorney Worten will not push the suits any further. He filed about 50 altogether, and should the matter go against the city, if prosecuted to the highest courts, would mean bankruptcy for the town.

It is not known whether any other attorney will take the matter up, this remaining to be developed.

Even a society bud has been known to be bunched with the wall flowers.

PROTEST RAISED By Ballard County Residents Against State Tax Assessment.

Ballard county citizens are complaining at the action of the state board of equalization in raising the assessment on real property 30 per cent. The Hon. John M. Moore, of La Center, former representative from that county; J. N. Trimble, of Wickliffe, president of the First National bank; J. M. Gholson, of Barlow, former county assessor went to Frankfort Thursday to argue the matter with the board. Ballard county is out of debt and expends $17,500 each year on her roads. On account of the presence of so much corporate property in the county the revenue is large. The Cairo bridge and long line of track are located within its borders. Fully 78 per cent of the county revenues come from this source.

VICTIMS SUE

CALLOWAY RESIDENTS WHO LOST IN GAME OF CHANCE.

Endeavor to Attach the Cole Bros.
Claims, But Could Find No
"Service" Man.

John Brandon, F. G. Moss, Luther Wilson and Galet Grogan, of Calloway county, are the plaintiffs in four separate suits filed in the circuit court there against Cole Brothers' shows, which exhibited here yesterday. The suits are the result of a "deeding" told elsewhere in The Sun.

The men lost money in a "skin game" and they sue for $10, $150, $80 and $50 respectively. There were many others who lost amounts ranging from a few cents to many dollars, but these are the only ones who lost enough to cause a smarting sufficiently to prompt this action.

Through a blunder of the attorney who drafted the suits, probably due to haste, the sheriff here was unable to secure service on the show people. The suits read "Cole Bros." as defendants and failed to specify any agent. The sheriff could not serve the summons there being several agents, and the matter had to necessarily be thrown over. The show people left unmolested.

The show people exhibited some little astuteness. One agent bought feed for the stock, another specified himself as a ticket agent, another as general agent for the big show, and so on. The sheriff tried hard but could not serve the summons.

Church Mission Burned.

Charleston, W. Va., April 28.—Three children lost their lives and a score were seriously burned last night in the destruction by fire of the Presbyterian mission at Lawson. The town is isolated and it is impossible to ascertain details except the fire was caused by explosion of a lamp. At least 50 children in the building fled panic stricken when the flames were discovered.

COMMITTEE ORGANIZES. Will Investigate Alleged Rumors As to Bar Members Conduct.

The committee appointed by President W. M. Reed, of the Paducah Bar Association to investigate any charges of misconduct on the part of members or attorneys at the local bar, met this morning and organized. The committee is composed of Attorneys James Campbell, Sr., R. T. Lightfoot, J. S. Ross, W. F. Bradshaw, Jr., and C. K. Wheeler. James Campbell was made chairman and J. S. Ross secretary and an hour or two was consumed in discussion of rumors which have been current relative to the practicing of certain attorneys.

It is stated that several attorneys have been the subject of discussion for alleged unprofessional methods of practice and the committee after formulating plans of investigation, adjourned to meet Monday afternoon at Judge Lightfoot's office.

The meeting was held this morning in Judge Lightfoot's court room.

DEPOT BURNED

FIRE DESTROYS THE DEPOT AT BARLOW, KY.

Building and Residence of Agent
Hughes Goes Up in Smoke This Morning.

The Illinois Central combination passenger and freight depot at Barlow, Ky., 21 miles west of Paducah, on the Cairo-Paducah extension of the road, burned this morning at 3 o'clock, and is a total loss.

The fire broke out shortly before 3 o'clock and was discovered by residents of the small town. There is no fire fighting facilities at Barlow except the usual small town bucket brigade, and the fire had gained too great headway to effect anything with the buckets.

The building was a two-story frame, occupied by the agent, H. H. Hughes, he lived up stairs, and lost everything he owned. Hughes is at Calvert City visiting and the depot was in charge of a substitute residing in the town, away from the depot.

The fire is presumably of incendiary origin, and the loss will amount to a great deal. There was not much freight stored in the depot, but all records and the electrical apparatus for blocks and telegraph service was destroyed. The I. C. carried insurance in the private corporation which insures all its property, but Agent Hughes, it is understood, carried no fire protection.

The fire seemed to have started from the first floor and the building was a mass of flames when discovered.

The matter has been referred to the I. C. special agents who are working on the case today.

OUTER PROCEEDINGS.

Effort to Be Made to Drive Objectionable Corporations From Ohio.

Toledo, O., April 28.—Prosecuting Attorney Wachenheimer today filed outer proceedings in the circuit court against the Standard Oil Co. and 17 other affiliated companies. The court is asked to dissolve the charters of all the Ohio corporations named in the petition and appoint trustees for creditors and stockholders. The prosecutor also asks that all foreign corporations be ousted from the state. Companies it is alleged have secret trade agreements by which they control production and transportation of oils. Promises are that this will be the fiercest trust fight ever fought in Ohio.

The Present Mosquito Nuisance Result of Cesspools About City.

The city is swarming with mosquitoes, and the housekeepers are hastily putting in their screens in a vain effort to keep them out of the houses. The mosquitoes are large and, like most of the tribe of mosquitoes, are assiduous in their attention. They put in their appearance the first of the week, and a good many people thought they would not stay long, as the usual spring crop pay short visits, but they have been here for a week and there is no telling how much longer they will prolong their stay. Members of the board of health say they can be attributed to the cess pool bounded by Third, Fourth, Clay

HOME COMING DAY IS FIXED

Commercial Club Has Chosen
June 19th, as Suitable.

Interesting Program Is Being Arranged to Make the Day Most Pleasing.

THE COMMITTEE IN CHARGE.

The Commercial club has fixed June 19th as the date for the Paducah Home Coming week celebration. The Kentucky home coming festivities will be held at Louisville the week before and the local organization deems the following week the best time to hold Paducah's.

An interesting program is being arranged by the committee on arrangements. It is the intention to have an old time picnic and barbecue and speaking by some of the prominent men of the city and county. The county judge and the fiscal court will be invited by the club to join them in the effort to make the day a memorable one.

The Louisville celebration promises to surpass anything of the nature ever given anywhere, and already the Commercial club of Louisville has the names of over 50,000 Kentuckians who will return to the state that week. There will, of course, be a number of Paducahans in the number, and it is hoped to get all of them to come to Paducah.

Samuel C. Lancaster, of Jackson, Tenn., will address the gathering on good roads, and Wallace Butterick, secretary of the National Educational board, will speak on educational work. Mr. Lancaster is an expert on good roads and Mr. Butterick is at the head of the organization to whose charge Rockefeller has given $10,000,000 for educational purposes.

The arrangement committee for the celebration is as follows:

Ben Weille, chairman; Saunders Brooks, Squires F. F. Gholson, John Thompson, Clint Knott, W. L. Lane, George Broadfoot, J. J. Bleich, C. W. Emery, John Burnett; Will Yancey, George Houser, Phil Newman, Adam Temple, John Smith, Dave Murphy, Lunt Stevens, Evan Jett, Martin Derrett, John Spence, Jim Bradshaw, Dick Barber, Wm. "We called this matter to the attention of the authorities some time ago," said a member of the board of health today, "but for some reason the work has been delayed. There is no doubt in my mind that the crop of mosquitoes now here is caused by some of these cess pools around the city. We want them cleaned up, and filled up, or properly drained, and until this is done we shall have the mosquitoes with the usual annoyances and danger of disease spreading."

THURSDAY-NEXT FUN BEGINS

Then the Season Opens With the Kitty League.

Chief Lloyd's Band of Kentucky
Draves Is Ready for the Trial.

THE FLAG IS FOR THE LOCALS.

Thursday, May 2nd, is the day set for the opening of the 1906 Kitty league season, and it is then that the sporting writers over the circuit will let their pipes go out and take to the native writing of baseball records. "Deeds, not words," will be the slogan, and it will be "back to the ball and uncut" for those bags of wind who have been padding their batting averages and fielding standing with hot air.

As far as the Indians are concerned, the matter is left to Harry Lloyd. Lloyd showed what he might have done three years ago. The suggestions the wily "Chief" dropped were not heeded, and Paducah took to the rear end of the procession. The next season Lloyd attempted again to put Paducah in the right way for a good time. He felt that the second time, but last season the "Big Chief" took the lines himself and walked through the league before the other teams had fairly gotten well waked up.

This season he is prepared to duplicate his performance of 1905. Lloyd is paid for bringing a winning team here, and he believes he has one. As far as the Indians' work has shown this season, Paducah may feel confident of the bunch. To defeat league teams of alleged greatest strength with ease, with no team work, seemed an easy matter to the Warriors. This was done without the regular lineup, and now that Gilligan is in the game and we have a safe, well tried backstop in Nippert, no doubt is left in the minds of the fans for the safety of the pennant.

The Paducah team will lineup as follows: Nippert, catcher; Haas, 1b; Gilligan, 2b; Wetzel, 3b; Perry, ss; McClain, 4b; Taylor, cf, and Miller, rf. The pitchers are Fred Miller, Tadlock, South, Ames, Wilgus and Billard, the latter an acquisition from the Southern League. Lloyd's arm is in good condition this season, and the old warrior seems to have control, and will pitch in a pinch. This is the way the team will go for several weeks, but after the first month the cut has to be made to the regular number of men agreed on, but by that time Lloyd will know "where he stands," and who to let go.

This is the situation briefly stated. Those who have seen the Paducah team work feel that Lloyd will capture the pennant unless some extraordinary players have been smuggled into the other teams. The Danville and Vincennes bunches look dangerous, and the strength of the other teams, on account of disorganization, cannot be told from the "dope" printed.

The league will open with Mattoon at Paducah, Danville at Vincennes and Jackson at Cairo. Eighteen games will be played at each town and then a shift made. Cairo will follow Paducah as it did last year, coming here the last team, and Paducah returns to Cairo to open there on the Indians' initial circuit trip.

The grounds in the different league towns are all new to the players except those at Paducah, Vincennes and Cairo, but from reports all in the new towns are good parks and well made grounds.

The last ante-season games here will be played this afternoon and Sunday between the Indians and the Alton, Ill., "Blues," one of the strongest teams in Illinois. The Indians will lineup regularly and will have to put up a hard fight, this being a very strong team.

"Brownie" McClain's left hand, which was hurt last week, is better, and he will be able to play today. Two fingers are still badly swollen.

Chenault is able to catch now, his finger having gotten much better.

the "bottle makers" for the Evansville bunch of Irish-Germans?

This is the question that local fans are asking themselves. Press dispatches show that Grand Rapids "wiped up" with the Ryanites in the first game of the Central league season. Ryan will probably have an excuse for the "home guards" when he returns, but if he makes any "bobbles" like he did in left garden here, when two runs were scored in one inning because he let a ball get "through" him, it may mean another manager for the Evansville team or Ryan will have to get a new code of excuses in order to stick.

Batteries Here Today and Tomorrow.

Today Wilgus, Ames, or Miller will pitch for the Indians. Snyder will toss the ball for the Alton "Blues" today and Redman, a crack twirler, will work against South and Tadlock tomorrow.

Handling of Coles Show Wins Recognition—How Trains Arrive on Cairo Branch.

The Order of Railway Telegraphers of the I. C. road have been given an increase in pay amounting to a total of $40,000 a year. This was accomplished after a lengthy conference between Manager I. G. Rawn and a committee from the order.

The telegraphers are well organized and have been working for a uniform scale in proportion to the size of the "jobs." Some operators are paid very little for remaining out in the woods, on little block station and they kicked.

The road willingly agreed on many matters for the betterment of the telegraphers, and no trouble from this source will be experienced this season.

Train Changes.

The following changes are noted in the new time card for the Cairo extension of the I. C. Train leaving Paducah at 7 o'clock for Cairo will leave at 6:15, beginning Sunday.

Trains arriving in Paducah from Cairo at 8:40 will hereafter arrive at 7:40. The latter change makes it more convenient to the public.

Was Quickly Handled.

The Cole Brothers shows complimented Trainmaster L. E. McCabe and his corps of yardmen highly on the handling of its circus train. The train was handled better and quicker here than it has been since the show started this season. It left Paducah at 12:10 this morning for Marion, Ill. This is one more feather in the cap of the local yard men for efficiency.

Officials Leave City.

Supt. A. H. Egan, Roadmaster F. L. Thompson, of the Louisville division; Master Mechanic R. J. Turnbull, of the local I. C., and Traveling Engineer B. P. Feehey went up the Louisville division this morning on an inspection.

Is Slowly Recovering.

Mr. Frank H. Rhea, who was scalded in the fire box of a locomotive in the local I. C. roundhouse several weeks ago, is able to sit up at the I. C. hospital. He was scalded all over and was in a hopeless condition for some time.

A Question of Evidence.

Senator Proctor, of Vermont, related the following with reference to an Irishman who was being examined as to his knowledge of a certain shooting affair.

"Did you," asked the presiding magistrate of the witness, "did you see the shot fired?"

"Of did not, sir!" responded the Celt, "but I heard it fired."

"That evidence is not satisfactory," replied the magistrate, sternly; "you may step down."

The witness left the box. No sooner had he turned his back on the judge than he gave vent to a somewhat derisive laugh. Enraged at this contempt of court, the magistrate called the Irishman back to the witness box.

"How dare you laugh in that manner in court?" demanded the judge, angrily.

"Did you see me laugh, Your Honor?" asked the Irishman.

"No, but I distinctly heard you laugh," came from the irate judge.

"Such evidence is not satisfactory," rejoined the Celt, quietly, a twinkle coming into his eye.

"Whereupon," says Senator Proctor, "everyone in court laughed, including the judge."—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

Daily Thought.

Character needs no recommendation. It pleads its own cause.— Success.

THE DECLATORY IMMUNITY BILLS.

Close on the vigorous message of the president directing attention to the imperative need of a declaratory act on the immunity question, bills have been introduced in senate and house which are designed to meet the need, says the Chicago Record-Herald, the senate measure and one presented in the house by Mr. Martin follow the draft prepared by the attorney general, while a bill introduced in the house by Mr. Littlefield changes somewhat the phraseology of the draft of the department of justice, and during the progress of the bills in the respective houses further verbal changes may, of course, suggest themselves. But the object is clear, and the essential quality to be imparted to the proposed act is absolute pliancy or definiteness.

Persons who give testimony in proceedings authorized by law are entitled to immunity, but the general belief has been that only those who are subpoenaed and give testimony under oath are "witnesses" within the legal meaning of the term, and that the word "evidence" has likewise a certain restricted meaning. Judge Humphrey having given the immunity statutes a totally different and unexpected construction, the declaratory bills guard against future misconception and misinterpretation of the intent of congress by providing that immunity shall be extended only to the natural person who, as a witness under oath, testifies at a proceeding held under the law or produces documentary evidence under like consequences.

The phrase "natural person" is used, of course, to exclude corporations, which are regarded by the law as artificial persons, from the benefits of the immunity clause. The propriety of such exclusion seems to have been established by the decision of the supreme court in the tobacco trust case. It was held in that suit that a corporation, being the creature of the state, "has no right to refuse to submit its books and papers for an examination at the suit of the state" and no claim to general immunity.

The other clauses of the proposed act will abolish the citizens' "immunity bath" and the threatened nullification of the anti-trust, interstate commerce and corporate publicity laws.

Judge Evans, according to rulings in the cases known as the "chauffeur" suits against Paducah, as mentioned elsewhere, makes it clear that the city is laying itself liable to heavy damages in the way it works the prisoners fined in the city court and who do not liquidate their assessments. The judge's declaration that there is merit in such suits clearly places it up to the Paducah council to provide a workhouse for the prisoners convicted in the city court and who will not pay their fines and run no further risk of being mulcted in much costs if not heavy judgments in the courts. There are other reasons for a workhouse, however, as has been clear for years, and there should be no useless delay in establishing one. There can ever be found abundant free workers to do the street cleaning, etc., and at a cost which will prove a great saving to the city in more ways than one, and this should not be, as some now hold, an argument against a workhouse.

Lava, pronounced "lay-va," is the latest new vegetable. It is a marine legume, found on the rocks in the Scottish coast and is served hot with roast mutton. The London Mail says: "To the palate lava brings a subtle commingling of pleasant salinity as of marinated fish, and a delicate hint of subacid of lime or lemon—a luscious, gurgling bonne bouche that produces a desire for further acquaintance." Lava is evidently luscious, according to what the Mail says, but when compared with cabbage and bacon or turbot greens and hog jowl it can't possibly be in it—well not with a Kentuckian.

The big Chicago fire broke many insurance companies. What the San Francisco disaster may have done in the same way, is, therefore, an interesting question. There is an announcement that the companies will all pay out, but can they? If the companies do pay, and this without suits or other contentions, they will not only sustain heavy losses, but will greatly improve their chances for business in the future, without doubt.

The cows have a mounted catcher, the dogs a patrol wagon, now who is going to take the mosquitoes in charge? They are entirely unlicensed, untaxed—and undesired. The boards should begin to legislate at once. In the meantime, as the board of health have located their habitation, while waiting for a condemnation, proceeding, why not try pouring coal oil on the ponds and standing water?

The initial number of the Smithland Echo has reached The Sun. The paper is an eight-page six column weekly and is gotten up in a very creditable way and is well edited. The Echo is Republican in politics and promises to strengthen the party in Livingston county during its career. The Sun welcomes the Echo as an exchange and wishes for it a long and prosperous career.

The St. Thomas Episcopal church of New York city, burned some months since, has two hundred and fifty thousand of the $500,000 raised for its rebuilding, on to the aid of the Episcopal churches of San Francisco, nine of which were totally destroyed by earthquake, fire, or dynamite. This is the kind of giving that puts others before self.

Many state factions are building fires under their political cauldrons and promise to heat up the next national contest to an extent. Ere the coming November congressional contests the national fight will have been well made up though not an issue for a year more. This is pretty clearly indicated already.

When the fire companies which sustained losses in the San Francisco fire began to settle then that part of the world at large which holds policy on property may begin to ask as to their reliability. Already several supposed strong companies have reinsured to protect their stockholders.

If Walter Wellman should reach the North Pole by means of dirigible balloons it is a question if the world will ever know the fact. He will have to come back and inform the world, and here is the rub. Will he be able to get back in the way he goes?

Even the supporters of the rate bill in the senate seem disposed to kill it by talking it to death. There is yet no prospect of an early vote on the proposed act.

Sanitation Hints.

Good sanitation for 1906 should be your motto.
 Clean your premises, keep them clean and sprinkle with lime.

Screen your doors and windows and keep out the housefly, the most dangerous of pests. It carries disease and infection.

The most effective money spent in advertising Paducah will be that spent in cleaning and draining it. Every citizen can help to do this, in their own way.

THE EASY OIL.

Scott's Emulsion is "the easy oil"—easy to take, easy in action. Its use insures deliverance from the gripping and nauseating sensation peculiar to the ray oil. Nobody who has any regard for their stomach thinks of taking cod liver oil in the old way when Scott's Emulsion is to be had. It is equally certain that no one having a regard for their health will accept a cheap emulsion or alcoholic substitute for Scott's Emulsion. It fulfills every mission of cod liver oil and more.

SAME OLD STORY

"DID NOT KNOW THE GUN WAS LOADED."

Several Pedestrians and Bystanders Struck By Accidental Discharge of a Gun.

Several pedestrians near Fourth and Broadway were peppered with small bird shot last evening about 6:30 o'clock. The matter was accidental, but caused a smarting to several residents, and the attention of a doctor in one instance.

Mr. Charles Wheeler, of Wickliffe, Ky., who had been calling on friends in the Brook Hill building, held the gun which was accidentally discharged. It was the same old story, he "didn't know it was loaded," but fortunately the accident proved trivial.

Wheeler was testing the gun by working the "pump," the weapon being in a repeater. Suddenly it exploded and Mr. John Theobald, the butcher, who was standing near the Connie Lee boot black parlors, on South Fourth street, grabbed his ankles. Bob Jones, a one-legged boot black, grabbed his leg; Cambo Hannan, another colored boot black, grabbed his wrist and head and there was lively dancing and a frantic pulling up of trouser legs for some few minutes. Mr. Theobald found that a few of the shot grazed him, not any penetrating. Jones found that several had entered his leg and the Hannan boy got one or two in the forehead and several in the wrist. The latter boy secured the services of a doctor. Mr. Mark Brizalara was also grazed by several shot.

Wheeler was quick to come to their relief and stated he did not know the weapon was loaded. It had been in bad repair and he was puny in it to see that it worked smoothly.

High Tension of Modern Life.

President Roosevelt in his inaugural address said that "modern life is complex and intense." "Strenuous" was his former definition, which he made so popular that it became a classic like Mr. Cleveland's "innocuous desuetude." Mr. Roosevelt is right. Modern business and social life are "both complex and intense" and under the strain of living one's muscles, ligaments and nerves may get keyed up to a degree of tension such that there is no unlocking them in the brief time afforded for rest. People get so tired they can't sleep. How many people know so well this modern feeling of tension? Drugs give no respite from it but since the tired body cries out in its stress for any artificial support, either stimulant or sedative, drug habits are easily formed at such periods, if once indulged persistently. There is but one treatment that will relax this high tension of modern life and that gives its patients prompt, adequate natural and whole some rest from the first treatment—Osteopathy. It is usually regarded as a sovereign cure for sleeplessness.

I should like to talk to you personally about osteopathy and what it is doing for suffering humanity.

A sane rational treatment, it is appreciated more and more every day.

MISSION TO CLOSE

TOMORROW'S SERVICES TO CONCLUDE THE INTERESTING SERIES.

Rev. Father Lambert a Capable Lecturer and One of National Reputation.

The mission that has been conducted all the week at the St. Francis de Sales church by the Reverend Fathers Lambert and Murphy of Chicago, will close tomorrow night. There will be no service this evening.

There have been four services a day and the church has been crowded especially at the night hour, and the sermons have been of a high order. Father Lambert has a national reputation and is the priest who so ably answered Robert Ingersoll. He is a man of learning and eloquence and preaches with a dramatic effect that holds the attention throughout. His sermons are largely instructive to the congregation, and each evening questions on church polity and faith have been answered from the question box in use during the mission. Father Murphy is a younger man than his colleague, but is a brilliant and thoughtful preacher. Both are among the most notable of the Jesuits in this country.

An elevated movable pulpit, such as are often seen in the larger cities, has been in use during the mission, and it gives the congregation a great advantage in seeing the preacher during his sermon.

JURY TRIALS BEGIN MONDAY

Judge Reed to Empanel His Petit Jury Then.

Civil Term of Circuit Court is to Last Five Weeks Longer.

OTHER LOCAL COURT NEWS

Circuit Judge William M. Reed this forenoon adjourned McCracken circuit court until Monday morning, and will then begin the trial of civil cases by jury.

This week has been consumed in the trial of motions, demurrers, and the taking of preliminary orders in civil actions. Little of importance was done, the first week being merely to prepare the court for a speedy trial of jury cases. The petit jury will be empaneled the first thing Monday morning and Judge Reed expects to complete the term in five weeks, both ordinary and equity dockets.

Action in the suit of John W. Holmes against the Southern Peanut Co., for damages for alleged inconvenience because of flying dust from the defendant's mill entering his home, has been postponed indefinitely pending the installation of machinery. The company is installing machinery to take care of the dust, and when it is in running order, the management thinks all dust will be confined to the factory building. The court will watch the success of the plan.

Little was done in court this morning before adjournment.

The case of Attorneys Taylor, Lucas & Harper against the Sun Publishing company in which the plaintiffs allege that the newspaper company paid Allan Free to get out of town and drop a suit they had brought for him against the paper, was dismissed without prejudice.

Berry Smith, colored, charged with criminal assault on a colored girl, was permitted to plead guilty of assault and battery and was fined $50 and costs.

Bankruptcy Court.

Referee in Bankruptcy E. W. Bagby has set hearing of exceptions to a discharge in the bankruptcy matter of Harris & Co., of Murray, for May 4.

Police Court.

Judge Sanders held a brief session of police court this morning.

Aaroa Wimberly, colored, "toted" a gun and was fined $25 and costs and given ten days in jail and an appeal granted.

Charles Duncann and J. D. Reeves, white, were fined $5 and costs for a breach of the peace.

Charles (Snake) Wade and Walter Williams, colored, were fined $5 and costs for a breach of the peace.

Book Deal Filed.

Two deeds of trust or mortgages in printed book form were filed today in county court. They are from the Paducah Traction Co. to The State Street Trust Co. and are for $1,200,000 each. The mortgages are for bonded property owned by the Traction Co. in Paducah.

Quarterly Court.

County Judge Lightfoot tried the case of Thos. Herndon & Co. against M. A. Lane this morning and rendered a judgment for $50 to the plaintiff. The suit was the outcome of a contract made by the plaintiff with the defendant, Lane contracted to sell the plaintiff tobacco at a certain price, and failed to fulfill it. Herndon sued for $200 damages.

No Site Yet Selected.

The fiscal court committee met in the office of Justice Charles Emery this morning at 9:30 to consider the various sites which have been inspected for the county poor farm. Five tracts have been offered, the owners asking $1,000 each for their property. The committee adjourned without transacting any business, to meet Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. The committee desires a ten acre tract on which to erect the new building. The ones already inspected are owned by Messrs. William Yancey, Mills, Potts, I. D. Wilcox and Leo D. Potter.

Mr. James Wheeler, son of Hon. Charles K. Wheeler, who is attending the Episcopal High school at Alexandria, Va., in a letter to The Sun states that a tract meet, which will probably be larger than any preparatory school meet ever held in the South, will be held at the school May 6th. Forty schools from Virginia, Maryland and the District of Columbia will compete.

Mr. Houseman, of Melber, Ky., will be in the city for a few days on business.

AN APPEAL FOR JIM HOWARD'S FAMILY

Responding to an urgent appeal made by republicans and democrats alike, The Sun presents a plain statement of fact in regard to James B. Howard's stricken family.

James B. Howard is now confined in the penitentiary, where he will serve a life sentence, having been convicted of the murder of William Goebel, five years ago.

Mrs. James B. Howard and her three little children are the innocent victims of the predicament Mr. Howard finds himself placed in by process of law. For five years this heroic woman has labored unceasingly, and never without hope, to secure a vindication for her husband. Their little home has been swept into the legal maelstrom, and today they are dependent on charity for the clothes they wear, and even for the bread they eat.

This condition will not be permitted to remain as long as there are tender hearts in Old Kentucky. This loyal wife has, by a devotion typical of Southern womanhood, touched the finest instincts of the human race. Facing the darkest gloom, from day to day, she has presented to a devoted husband a smiling and unflinching optimism that has undoubtedly, and braced him for the heavy ordeal he has undergone.

These three children are winsome children—for both the father and mother are persons of education and refinement. They are denied a home, an opportunity to acquire knowledge, a right to a father's care and protection.

Is it not a worthy case? Think as you may of the guilt or innocence of Jim Howard, here are helpless beings who drift on a world none too sympathetic, unless aroused to the cry of urgent want.

The Sun will acknowledge receipt of all money sent to it for "The Mrs. James B. Howard Fund."

A dime, a dollar, a hundred dollars or any amount, given in such a cause, will be "bread cast upon the waters," and such, the Great Father assures us "will come back as a hundredfold."

To the Traveling Public.

THE CARNEGIE OUR UNIVERSITY

Searchers After Knowledge
Need Go No Further.

They Can Find Upon the Book
Shelves Whatever Education
They May Desire.

RECENT NEW BOOKS ADDED

While efforts are being made to locate a school of higher education in Paducah, The Sun knows of an university already here which is finely equipped and capable of turning out thoroughly educated men and women. It is the Carnegie library.

Carlyle always insisted that a collection of books is the modern university and Mr. Harper, late president of Chicago University, expressed firm conviction that the self-taught student secured a firmer grasp of a subject than the student who had a professor on whom he could fall back for aid. True, a patron of the library has no faculty to direct his studies, but even without guidance one could hardly browse in that field to his disadvantage. Without tuition fees, living expenses, or book bills to pay, any citizen of Paducah can enroll in this library-university and find the facilities to become proficient in the theory and practice of any line of work, or well-informed on any subject.

The young bank clerk desiring to understand the principles and theory of the work he daily does from mere form, can find books there that will explain those things. And the mechanic in almost any line can find works on his trade. While in purely literary culture, the collection affords ample variety in both classical and modern literature.

To the patron of the library it appears that the librarians have a very elegant leisurely position, but to aspiring young women who take that view it might be interesting to know that the work while desirable because of the cultivated surroundings has a large amount of tedious labor. This is the part the public does not see, taking care of the new books, requiring no less than seven different operations to get a book into condition for circulation.

The books as they are received must be classified, catalogued and undergo a large amount of mechanical work, such as stamping, labelling, pocketing and then finally varnished, which process being over they are ready for circulation. It is usually about two weeks before new books are put into circulation.

It has long been the desire of the librarian to have the list of the new books published as they are received, that the public could be informed on the latest accessions to the collection, and The Sun recognizing its interest to its readers will publish from time to time such a list.

A partial list of late additions is as follows:

MAY BE MENDED

LOCAL LODGEMEN BELIEVE INTERSTATE ASSOCIATION RIFT WILL HEAL.

When Cool, Second Thought Is Had by Probable Seceders All Will Be Well.

The rupture between the Carbonate, Ill., lodge of Odd Fellows and the Paducah lodges and other lodges in this end of the state will probably be mended, it is thought, when the heat of the matter is somewhat cooled.

"I do not believe that the Carbonate members will withdraw from the interstate association, that is remain withdrawn, when the matter is looked upon in the right light," Mr. Jule Switzer, a prominent lodgeman of the city declared this morning. "We have gotten along smoothly for years and this is the first real rupture since the action of the West Kentucky lodges in withdrawing. This action was not prompted by anything the larger lodges did, however, but more because the smaller lodges could not keep up with the gait set by the Paducah lodges. It is another matter with the Carbonate lodge."

"I believe when the Carbonate lodgemen think the matter over carefully they will reconsider and remain in the interstate association, neither do I believe that Carterville and other Illinois lodges will withdraw. The fact that we could not well postpone the meeting should be plainly seen. We had gone too far with the arrangements, and then it would have been a departure from the usual custom. We would have broken the habit of years of celebrating the anniversary of our interstate association and also the anniversary of the order of Odd Fellows."

"In regard to the withdrawal of the West Kentucky lodges, this was done because the smaller lodges wanted an organization where they could stand about equal in entertaining. The Western Kentucky association held its celebration at Arlington this year on the same day we held the interstate meeting."

"The Bumpous lodge, which took two prizes in our interstate meeting for the biggest number of members in the line of march, sent a delegation here this year, and we stand a good chance of getting this lodge back with us. I believe, as do others in the local lodges, that the matter will be amicably patched up. We did not refuse to postpone to be contrary, but because we could not well afford it."

The local committees will meet tomorrow afternoon to make a settlement. It is thought that the entertainment will not cost any more than the fund set aside for that purpose. The total expense of entertaining the visitors will not exceed $300, it is thought, and this amount is in the hands of the order now, having been made up from entertainments given during the winter and from subscriptions from members.

Courier-Journal: It is a somewhat singular fact that many of the fastest boats that ever were in the Ohio and Mississippi rivers were never built to be fast boats, and many that were built to be fast proved to be slow boats. The first J. M. White was an accident. She was never built for a fast boat, but proved to be the fastest steamboat ever built. She was built at Elizabeth by Walker & Ekin, Gen. Ekin, of the custom house in this city, and when Bonnie Bros' store was burned on Main street, in this city some time ago, the model of the first J. M. White was destroyed by fire. The Atlantic was never built for a fast boat but she made the quickest 24-hour run ever made on the Mississippi. The Richmond was built for a "flyer" but she was a failure. Many boats that have been built for fast ones that were failures and many have been built for business that proved to be fast—very fast. It is a fact that two boats may be built of the same dimensions, and one will be twice as fast as the other. This has proved to be true in the building of ocean liners and war vessels in the past and no one can explain why this is so.

River forecasts: The Ohio from Evansville to Cairo, will continue falling during the next several days. The fall at Cairo will amount to about 1.5 feet daily during the next three days. The Tennessee from Florence to below Johnsonville, no decided change during the next 36 hours. The Mississippi from below St. Louis to Cairo, will continue falling during the next 36 to 48 hours.

EVERTZ DECLINES

REFUSES TO COME TO PADUCAH TO WORK.

Council Boards' Delinquency Causes Complications in Office of City Electrical Inspector.

James Wood, chief of the Paducah fire department, has received a letter from Frank O. Evertz, of St. Louis, who served here during February as city electrical inspector, in which he refuses to come to Paducah to act as electrical and building inspector for less than $100 per month.

Mr. Evertz was placed in office temporarily, but went home to St. Louis when the council boards failed to promptly ratify his appointment, which was made by Fire Chief Wood, who by virtue of ordinance is the wire inspector. Chief Wood says Evertz has another good position which he will not give up unless he is offered something better here by the municipal boards.

From indications the salary will not be increased and a successor will have to be secured at once. Evertz's appointment was ratified only last week, and Chief Wood thought he would come back. An expert in Pittsburg, Pa., is being corresponded with, and Chief Wood thinks he will be able to supply a man for the vacancy in a week or two.

Since Evertz's departure from Paducah the board have added the duties of "building inspector" to the office, and it is presumed that this has some little bearing on the matter. No office as it now stands pays but $75 per month. There seems to be some doubt in the minds of local contractors as to whether the city will be able to secure a competent "combination man" who is capable of knowing good house construction when his specialty is electrical wiring.

STILL SAYS NO

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT NOT TO ASK FOR ANOTHER TERM.

Is Not Candidate and Would Not Accept Nomination If It Were Tendered Him.

Washington, April 28.—During the last few days—in fact ever since the president delivered his "muck rake" speech—a great deal of guff has been written and spoken to the effect that he is a candidate for president to succeed himself.

It is known positively that such is not the case. Mr. Roosevelt has no intention whatever of being a candidate for the nomination in 1908 or accepting the nomination if it shall come to that. He regards his promise made when he was elected two years ago, to the effect that he would not be a candidate four years thereafter, as too binding in a moral sense to be broken under any circumstances.

Mr. Roosevelt has no idea, however, of dropping out of active public life. He is too vigorous and too anxious to serve his country for that. When his term as president ends he will ask the state of New York to send him to the United States senate. That this ambition will be gratified goes without saying. Senator Platt's term will expire on March 3, 1909, and Mr. Roosevelt, if elected to the senate to succeed him, could enter the senate as a member of that body on the day he leaves the White House.

If he becomes a senator at that time he will enter the highest law-making body at the age of 51 years and will rank among the younger senators, so that there will still be before him the promise of a long public career. The view generally taken at Washington is that after four or eight years in the senate he will again be a candidate for the presidency, and if he should be re-elected, he would establish a new and interesting precedent.

The chemical blonde is gone we hope, to stay. Once upon a time the yellow and strawberry beauty was taken at her coloring, but it is useless to practice any such deception. Sophistication rules the hour. No masculine much less feminine, eye can be deceived. Her lustrous hair is womanly glory, and to arrive at it she must cling to the color in which nature turned her out, be she blonde, brunette or nondescript. No beauty doctor or dyer's art can change the leopard's spots without hazard of betrayal. Besides, not one woman in ten thousand helps her beauty by such deft of nature.—Kentucky State Journal.

INSURANCE RATES TO BE ADVANCED

Increase Promised Soon to Enable Companies to Recomp.

The Announcement Is Made After a Meeting of Agents in Chicago.

RATE IS YET TO BE FIXED.

Chicago, April 28.—There will be a general advance in fire insurance rates in the business centers of all cities of the United States in the near future to enable the companies to recomp in a measure their San Francisco losses.

A meeting of all Western managers was held Wednesday to discuss the situation. The governing committee of the Western Union, the large legislative body of the West, decided that, in the face of the present conditions, an advance must be made. Eastern officials had advised their Western men to prepare for the increase and the meeting approved the plan.

Company officials meeting in the East decided that the advance should go into effect simultaneously over the country. To that end they asked the Western Union to send a committee of five to New York to attend general meeting to determine the nature and plan of action. A similar committee will attend from the South.

President J. W. Coffran, of the Western Union, said that the Western committee would be appointed today.

It is stated that the Western Union will see to it that adequate rates are charged on classes that are now considered unprofitable and that charges for defects in risks will be insisted upon emphatically.

Nothing will be done as to Chicago rates until the officials and managers get together and decide what plan will be followed.

The governing committee of the Western Union has been reorganized with Law Brothers, managers of the Royal, as chairmen.

The local insurance agents when asked about the matter said they had not heard anything about the raise, but they expected one would no doubt be made, and at once. When asked about what the raise would amount to, none of the agents here seemed to know what it would be.

Dynamite Eaters.

An American business man who was on a visit a few days ago to a mining camp situated near Monterey, was surprised and mystified to hear one Mexican miner say to his companion as they came from the depths of a mine:

"Come over to the Cantina and take some dynamite with me."

The American superintendent explained the invitation:

"That was an invitation to take a drink of some new brand of liquor, as might be supposed," he said. "Those two Mexicans actually eat dynamite and get drunk on the dangerous substance."

It is a fact that many of the Mexican miners of the peon class are dynamite eaters. It is a vice that is rapidly spreading. J. C. Ford, a prominent American mining man of the Guadalupe y Calva district, said concerning the new habit:

"Users of dynamite soon learn that it is a powerful stimulant, and that the effects of the intoxication are pleasing, while they last, beyond the most exultant fantasies of an opium dream. It is said that very soon the nerves begin to tinkle and stranger dreams come than the weird vision induced by hashheesh."—New York American.

TO REBUILD A BETTER GATE CITY

The People Still Have Confidence in Frisco.

New Structures, Stronger and Better to Replace Those Destroyed in the Disaster.

REALTY VALUES ARE RISING

San Francisco, April 28.—Confidence in San Francisco is unshaken. With the ruins of its great retail and wholesale buildings still smoking, plans are afoot for their reconstruction.

San Francisco rebuilt is to be a better, a safer and a more comfortable city for business and residential purposes than it was before. Capital in abundance to work the miracle is at hand. Chicago and New York financiers are ready with it. The Harrimans, the Stillems, the Rockes, the Morgans and the financial world are anxious to expedite the work. It is to their benefit to do so.

All signs conclusively prove that the credit of the Golden Gate City is unimpaired. Its natural advantages remain and its future promises to bring as bountiful prosperity as did its past. The trend is toward a municipality of steel and brick, of edifices constructed along the latest approved eastern lines. The new city will be far more substantial than the old—this is certain. The dominant here is optimism.

Realty Values Rise.

It has become obvious within the last few days that instead of shrinking, real estate values have risen rapidly and will continue to rise. Fancy figures are being quoted on sites suitable for business establishments. Structures that remain comparatively intact and are not far from the old business section are being leased, room by room, at extremely high rates. Everyone seems feverishly anxious to outdo everyone else in reaching old customers first.

Instead of doom and gloom, San Francisco the double attack of fire and quake will prove a blessing. Unaccountable as it may be to many people in eastern states, the denizens of this part of the country have no special fears of a recurrence of the recent catastrophe. They argue that seismic disturbances of such intensity come once in fifty or one hundred years.

"Next time we will be prepared," is the regulation comment. The faith of these people, their courage and their enduring hope have obliterated all doubt and crushed timidity. The watchword from the day of the disaster was "rebuild." And generally there has been added the injunction, "and make it earthquake proof."

Many Contracts Let.

The contracts to construct large buildings already have been let. All the old landmarks are to be replaced by even more attractive creations of the architect's skill. The question now agitating the minds of property owners concerns the type of buildings to be selected.

While flames did nine-tenths of the damage eight days ago, the titanic tremor leveled scores of great piles of brick and masonry. If those structures had been able to defy earthquake there would not have been much loss from fire. It was crossed wires caused by crumbling walls that converted the city into a furnace.

The tall structures fashioned in the modern way withstood the shock best. Buildings with brick walls tied to a steel frame seemed invulnerable. The local theory of building by the same token was demonstrated deficient. Walls that were not securely attached to their frames fell out or crumbled into heaps. The Claus Spreckles building, in which the San Francisco Call was published is intact. It was built after the plan of the First National bank building in Chicago or the Flatiron in New York. Its neighbors, constructed by the San Francisco method are on the ground. Many foundations were too light. Some were nothing more than piles driven into the ground. In the new San Francisco considerable attention is to be paid to sub-construction work.

Made Land a Problem.

This is regarded as highly important as the section west of Montgomery and First streets is made land. Not many years ago the waters of the bay covered it. In company with a competent consulting engineer I made the rounds of the down-town district today and, according to my guide, the New York and Chicago methods of skyscraper construction have been fully indicated by conditions here.

The earthquake of April 18, followed by the ferocious fire attacks 19th and 20th, are said by engineers to have constituted the severest test to which the modern buildings ever have been subjected. It is conceded that San Francisco architects and builders have been slow to accept the eastern methods of construction, which, roughly, is the resting of both steel frame and masonry work on one foundation, the latter securely tied to the former. Until very recently Pacific coast builders have seen fit to rest the skeleton and the masonry each on its own foundation. As illustrated by the effects of the double disaster, the results of these two plans of construction are remarkable.

Postoffice Little Harmed.

The new postoffice building, constructed on piles, largely of masonry, with some steel, withstood the shock and the flames well. Before the earthquake the district south of Market street, especially toward the water front, was given over to frame tenements of the cheapest class, and for years had been inaccessible on that account to wholesale houses and factories, for which it was a natural location. There is supposed to be little doubt that the fire limits will be extended and that nothing but buildings of high character can be erected in this district, thereby not only insuring the city against danger of another holocaust, but opening a greatly needed wholesale and manufacturing section.

The San Francisco Real Estate Exchange fully realizes the importance of this change, and steps already have been taken toward establishing new fire lines. The double test to which all San Francisco buildings have been subjected also has proved that frame buildings erected under the present specifications of the board of public works are strong, flexible and amply able to withstand such seismic forces as they have recently undergone. It is likely, however, that changes will be made in the "class A" specification which will include all future skyscrapers, so that all features of the highest type of that kind of construction may be embodied in them.

All Ready for Work.

The interest being taken in the reconstruction of the city is evident on every hand. The newspapers are filled with advertisements of railroads and contractors offering advice and aid—incidentally bids for business—to firms that expect to rebuild. One of the contracting firms advertised in a local paper as follows today:

"Personal examination has fortified our unshaken confidence in the stability of the best type of class A construction, and when capitalists have confirmed this conclusion from reports of their own experts we expect that the business district of San Francisco will be rebuilt with speed. "If it is correct that earthquake conditions can be provided for safely in tall buildings, then our first-class risks will be practically eliminated, since all business will be only one type and no one will have an adjacent exposure."

In ordinary English, then, the big contractors who know whereof they speak, look for the rebuilt city to be almost a facsimile of Chicago within the loop, or New York in the vicinity of Twenty-third and Broadway.

The enthusiasm of San Francisco is so strong that they are not waiting upon cart or cleaner to reopen temporary places of trade. Wherever an opportunity offers merchants, lawyers, insurance men and wholesalers have hung out cards and are endeavoring to rehabilitate their affairs.

The Emporium, the largest store in the stricken city has obtained a foothold in a shattered residence in Van Ness avenue, just out of the burned section, and has hung out a little placard upon which is written "Open for Business."

To-morrow is the siren that lures lots of us to destruction.

PARIS TO MEET THE STRIKERS

Eighty Thousand Workmen out in 8 Hour Movement.

Fear of Trouble Makes the Situation One to the Authorities of the City.

A CLASH OF FORCES IS FEARED.

Paris, April 28.—According to a semi-official statement made by a high functionary of the prefecture of police the military and police are prepared to meet every eventuality May 1. He said the police canvass shows that 80,000 men have stopped work, of which number the disorderly element does not exceed 20,000. Against these can be massed 42,000 to 45,000 troops, namely twenty thousand infantry, ten thousand cavalry and ten thousand to fifteen thousand republican guards and police, with large additional reserves.

The police will endeavor to localize the manifestation to the Place de la Republique, which is the great labor center, and to the vicinity of the Labor Exchange. This will prevent the manifestation from gaining the center of Paris or getting west of the Place de la Concorde, into the residential sections of the Champs Elysee or Passy.

It is expected that the strength of the military and police will readily enable them to confine the disorderly element within its own eastern sections, thus reducing the demonstration to isolated affrays which should easily be controlled.

The police are convinced that there is no danger of a lack of food supplies owing to the strike in the provision trades. They declare that the leaders in provisions are reaping a harvest by spreading alarmist reports. The police are in favor of closing the stores altogether.

In conclusion the official of the prefecture stated that the situation, while serious, does not warrant it being represented as tragic. The painters have decided to stop work May 1st and to remain out until they are granted an eight hour day and a weekly holiday.

LOVE AND HAPPINESS.

What is happiness? It all depends upon what you consider happiness. The peasant of the continent place money-possession far above all other sources of happiness. Woman, artist, musician, power, ambition are absolutely nothing to the peasant of France or Hungary compared with possession of money. Balaac, in "Eugene Grandet," has drawn this terrible passion in the character of old Grandet, who lived and died for one thing—money.

The Greeks despised people who liked to live alone; the Cyclops, arguing that they could not be happy; yet Diogenes of Corinth, according to Dionysius, was perfectly happy, for he had learned a recipe for happiness—despise being despised." Why the Greeks were the happiest people the world ever saw was because they lived a life of only one dimension, while people today live in three or more—the state, society and the church.

To use a musical simile, the ancient Greek life was a legato; ours is a staccato. The Greek life was like an andante of Mozart; ours is like a furious, agitating scherzo. In some countries life is not only staccato, but ten times worse.

The Middle Ages invented women. In ancient Greece women had no standing at all. Plato knew nothing of the notion that women might make man happy.

Love is full of the most amazing contrasts and contradictions—the dark man passionately admires the blonde woman; the short man the amazon; the man of the north the beauty of the south. The young man whose youth has been solitary is shocked when he meets a young girl full of life and briskness. He should have danced and amused himself with the society of women. Men always love the same type; no matter how many different women they love, the type never varies.

The opposite of love is ambition. Men after 40 or 45 and women after 25 or 30 lose love and acquire ambition.

STEADY BIRTH DECLINE.

The decline in the marriage and birth rate is so serious in France as to be made the subject of governmental inquiries.

In England and other European countries the same subject has attracted serious attention.

It appears from statistics just published that there has been a fall of 15 per cent in the marriage rate in England since 1870.

In the English birth rate the decline has been continuous since 1895, but the rate for 1904 is the lowest on record—less than 28 per 100 population.

Leading physicians and statisticians have read papers before the British Royal Statistical Society, showing that the fall in the birth rate has declined from 36 per cent to 28 per cent, in the German empire from 40 to 35, in Prussia from 40 to 36, in France from 26 to 22, in Austria from 40 to 36.

In dealing with the cause of the phenomenon it was pointed out that while war, industrial depression, bad crops, migration and other recognized factors count in a measure for the falling birth and marriage rates, they could not explain the singular regularity and steadiness of the movement.

The conclusion that was drawn may be stated in a nutshell—that the desire for ease and comfort, the rising standards of living and the fear of poverty have done more than natural and accidental influences to bring about the decline in fertility and the custom of postponing marriage or avoiding it altogether.

AN OLD HERO

REDISCOVERED THROUGH QUESTIONING FOR FITNESS FOR JURY.

Agricultural Department Loses Chance to Carry Out Idea to Create New Animal.

Washington, April 28.—Serving as a member of the jury in one of the criminal courts here this week is William H. West. Although now an ordinary citizen, West bears the unique record of being probably the only man who ever arrested a president of the United States. In 1872 West was a member of the police force of the District of Columbia, and when President Grant came speeding along behind a fleet pair of trotters, fracturing the speed regulations at every stride of his horses, Policeman West promptly took him in charge. The president enjoyed the sensation, and accompanied his captor to the station, where, of course, he was released. This is West's first public appearance in years, and the facts were drawn from his while he was undergoing examination as to his fitness for jury duty.

Uncle Sam is certainly making strenuous efforts to prevent the extermination of fish from the streams and lakes of the country. Last year the government hatched no less than 1,755,000,000 fish, which were distributed to all parts of the country. This is a line of work over which the president as a sportsman is very enthusiastic. He manifested a keen interest over the progress which Fish Commissioner Bowers recounted during a visit to the White House the other day, being particularly pleased with the report of the commissioner to the effect that the cost of hatching and planting 1,000,000 fish had in the last eight years been reduced from $176 to $223.

The bureau of animal industry is mourning the death of the big zebra at the zoo, which committed suicide by dashing his head against an iron fence, thus breaking his neck. The cause for most of the grief on the part of the bureau is due to the fact that with the death of this zebra, the only one in its possession, the hopes of the bureau officials in connection with one of their most cherished experiments came to an end. The animal, a present from Ras Makonnen, the governor of Abyssinia, was sent here at the special request of the agricultural department. It was hoped that by breeding him with ordinary mares a new species, to be called the zeydroid, could be produced, which would be especially adapted to work in warm countries. But now, with the unexpected suicide, these plans came to a sorrowful end, and the country will have to worry along with the ordinary livestock.

THE DEATH ODOR PERVADES FRISCO

Across the City is a Sorry and Touching Trip.

Misery Is Revealed Everywhere in Spite of the Statements to the Contrary.

INCIDENTS OF THE FIRE MANY

San Francisco Cal., April 28.—In the endless procession that winds from the residence districts of San Francisco along Market and Howard streets, through the devastated business district to the ferry landing, is to be found the story of the great disaster in tragic chapters. Every refugee carries his or her tale of misery. The loads of misery are heavier than the loads of property saved from the wreck.

Starting at Van Ness and Golden Gate avenues this morning, I worked my way ferryward with the slowly moving throng as far eastward as Fifth street, from thence to Howard street and to the water front. As the procession turns into Howard street, the unmistakable odor of decaying human bodies becomes offensively noticeable. Near here was the ill-fated Brunswick hotel. According to the authorities, there is not a body in the city that has been found and not buried, either temporarily or permanently.

There have been no interments of either kind in this neighborhood, and the conclusion is inevitable that the debris at this point covers many bodies. Coroner Walsh told me that he adhered to his original estimate of 1,000 dead, but there are few in San Francisco in position to make an estimate, such as physicians and trained nurses, who agree with him. The tell-tale odor that is so apparent near Sixth and Howard streets is to be found in many other parts of the city and especially in various spots south of Market street.

The psychological effect of the shock a week ago yesterday on many persons is destined to be responsible for much of the loss of life which so far has not been reported. Perfectly authentic stories by the dozens of crazed persons who rushed back into their homes to be burned to death, after they had escaped from them once, are to be found in the procession of woe. A trained nurse, who had done a week's valiant work among the sick, told me she knew of several cases of this kind.

Crazed by the earthquake and the experience of the conflagration from one direction, many rushed from their homes with a few belongings, and, cut off by flames from other directions, ran instinctively, as a horse into a burning stable, back to their homes, and perished. The number of these probably never will be known. The unburned section fairly hummed with activity. All the little shops in the western addition did a rushing business.

A prominent engineer, after a careful survey, has estimated that the area devastated by the fire is approximately 10,000 acres, or about 15 square miles. Within this 15 square miles were nearly 100 banks, some of the finest buildings in the world, thousands of mercantile and manufacturing establishments and more than 250,000 inhabitants, beside some 40,000 transients.

The aggregate of fatalities will probably not exceed 700, and will certainly not reach 1,000, a striking proof of the masterly manner in which the civil and military authorities handled the situation. Notwithstanding the enormous and widespread destruction, the homes of 150,000 people are still standing practically uninjured. There is still a big city standing in San Francisco. The soldiers are still on guard. They patrol the streets with loaded guns over their shoulders.

He Knew.

The first witness called in a recent petty lawsuit in Cincinnati was an Irishman, of whose competence as a witness opposing counsel entertained doubt. At his instance there was put to him, before being sworn, the usual interrogatory, "Do you know the nature of an oath?"

A broad grin spread over the face of the Irishman as he replied:

"Indeed, your honor, I may say that it is second nature with me.—Harper's Weekly.

A NEW DEPARTURE.

"Taking Time by The Forelock."

All observing people must have noticed a growing sentiment in this country in favor of using only put-up foods and medicines of known composition. It is but natural that one should have some interest in the composition of that which he is expected to swallow, whether it be food, drink or medicine. This sentiment has resulted in the introduction in the legislatures of many of the States, as also in the Congress of the United States, bills providing for the publication of formula or ingredients on wrappers and labels of medicines and foods put up for general consumption.

Recognizing this growing disposition on the part of the public generally, and satisfied that the fullest publicity can only add to the well-earned reputation of his proprietary medicines, Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., has "taken time by the forelock," as it were, and is publishing broadcast, and on each bottle wrapper, a full and complete list of all the ingredients entering into his medicines, "Golden Medical Discovery," the popular liver invigorator, stomach tonic, blood purifier and heart regulator; also of his "Favorite Prescription" for weak, over-worked, broken-down, debilitated, nervous, invalid women.

This bold and out-spoken movement on the part of Dr. Pierce, has, by showing exactly what his well-known medicines are composed of, completely disarmed all harping critics who have heretofore unjustly attacked them. A little pamphlet has been compiled, from the standard medical authorities of all the several schools of practice, showing the strongest endorsements by leading medical writers of the several ingredients which enter into Doctor Pierce's medicines and recommending these ingredients for the cure of the diseases for which Dr. Pierce's medicines are advised. A copy of this little booklet is mailed free to any one desiring to learn more concerning the valuable, native medicinal plants which enter into the composition of Dr. Pierce's medicines. A request, by postal card or letter, addressed to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., will bring this little booklet by return post. It tells exactly what ingredients are used in the making of Dr. Pierce's famous medicines.

This striking departure of Dr. Pierce from the usual course pursued by the manufacturers of proprietary medicines, at once takes his medicines out of the class generally known as "patent" or "secret" medicines, neither of which term is at all applicable to them, as their formula now appears on the wrapper of every bottle leaving the great laboratory at Buffalo, N. Y. It places them in a class all by themselves. Neither of them contain any alcohol, which fact alone should cause them to be classed all by themselves and as entirely harmless vegetable extracts, made and preserved by the use of glycerine and not with the usually employed strong alcohol, which works so much injury, especially in cases where treatment, even though of the best, must be continued for considerable periods of time, in order to make the cure permanent.

Many years ago, Dr. Pierce found that chemically pure glycerine, of proper strength, was far better than alcohol both for extracting and preserving the medicinal principles residing in our indigenous, or native, medicinal plants, such as he employs exclusively in manufacturing his medicines.

Some of these medicinal roots have, since Dr. Pierce first commenced to use them, advanced so in price, that they may be cultivated with great profit by our farmers. This is especially true of Golden Seal root, which enters into both the Doctor's "Golden Medical Discovery" and his "Favorite Prescription." It now brings upward of $1.50 a pound, although formerly selling at from 15 to 20 cents a pound. Many tons of this most valuable root are annually consumed in Doctor Pierce's Laboratory.

From "Organic Medicines," by Grover Coo, M. D., of New York, we extract the following concerning Hydrastis (Golden Seal root), which enters largely, as we have already stated, into the composition of both "Golden Medical Discovery" and "Favorite Prescription." Dr. Coo says: "Hydrastis exerts an especial influence over mucous surfaces. Its action in this respect is so manifest that the indications for its employment cannot be mistaken. (Hence the efficiency of the "Golden Medical Discovery," which is rich in Golden Seal root, in all catarrhal affections, no matter in what part of the system located.) Upon the liver it acts with equal certainty and efficacy. As a chagogue (liver invigorator), it has few equals. Also in eczema, glandular diseases generally, cutaneous eruptions, indigestion, debility, diarrhoea, and constipation."

Doctor Coo continues: "Hydrastis (Golden Seal root), has been successfully employed in the cure of leucorrhoea. It is of singular efficacy when that complaint is complicated with hepatic (liver) aberration (derangement). Hydrastis is also of inestimable value in the treatment of chronic derangements of the liver. It seems to exercise an especial influence over the portal vein and hepatic (liver) structure generally, resolving (dissolving) biliary deposits, removing obstructions, promoting secretion, and giving tone to the various functions. It is eminently chagogue (liver accelerator), and may be relied upon with confidence for the relief of hepatic (liver) torpor. It promotes digestion and assimilation, obviates constipation, and gives tone to the depurating (cleansing) functions generally."

Dr. Coo further says: "We would here add that our experience has demonstrated Hydrastis to be a valuable remedy in bronchitis, laryngitis, and other affections of the respiratory organs."

After reading the foregoing extracts who can doubt the great efficacy, in a long list of diseases, of "Golden Medical Discovery," one of the principal ingredients of which is Golden Seal root (Hydrastis)? And this applied with equal force to Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription for weak, worn-out, over-worked, nervous, invalid women.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are composed largely of concentrated principles extracted from Mandarilla roots. They regulate and invigorate the stomach, liver and bowels. One or two little sugar-coated "Pellets" a dose.

CITY CLEANING DAYS ARE VERY POPULAR

Movements for General Cleaning up Requested by Citizens.

In Chicago the Children Are Being Interested in the Good Work.

PADUCAH SHOULD DO LIKEWISE

At a mass meeting of the citizens of Henderson a few nights ago for the purpose of launching the "Wash Henderson's Face" movement, as the Henderson Cleaner aptly expresses it. The meeting was a large and enthusiastic one, and the mayor was asked to set May 1 as a general city cleaning up day.

Chicago has set May 7 as its day for a house cleaning. The superintendent of the schools has interested the pupils of the schools, and in commenting on it the Chicago Tribune says:

In no way can the individual make his influence felt more easily than in the direction of effort to keep the city clean. If everyone were to use the waste paper boxes which are placed at nearly every corner in the downtown section, the amount of litter in the streets would be materially reduced and their general aspect greatly improved. The influence of the neighborhood improvement societies has been marked in this line, for there are now many people who make it a rule never to throw loose papers on the sidewalk or street. Even where there are many violations of this rule it is notable what can be accomplished by daily care in picking up the waste and flying papers.

The proposition to enlist the interest of the school children, with the cooperation of the teachers, is one of the best features of the superintendent's plan. It is his thought to secure help not only in cleaning up the school yard but also in bettering conditions in the vacant lots of the school neighborhood. As a rule, boys and girls like to work at cleaning up. The prospect of a good reward is often sufficient inspiration for much real labor. The appeal to the children has its educational value likewise, for a cleaning bee teaches ways followed by some degree of interest in keeping conditions good, and even if this interest is spasmodic, it has its influence in the direction of training toward better conceptions of the possibilities of physical cleanliness for a community.

What other cities are doing along this line, Paducah could and should do. We should set a day for cleaning up this city, and call on everybody to join in the movement. The people should be taught to keep their premises clean, and to want the streets and alleys kept the same way, and our children should also be taught the value of a cleanly city.

Paducah could well stand a good cleaning up. The streets are very dirty and dusty and the alleys in many parts of the city are a disgrace to a civilized community. The board of health is earnestly and energetically striving to get the town in a good condition in all these regards but it will take the co-operation of the citizens to do it effectively.

Let the people sprinkle the streets every day, clean up their yards, and alleys, and soon their neighbors, seeing the good example, set, will follow suit.

In this connection, The Sun would again call attention to the fact that it is offering a prize of $10 for each of the prettiest yards in the different wards, just to stimulate an interest in beautifying the city and its homes and is offering a capital prize of $15 for the prettiest yard in the entire city.

The awards will be made until July 15, so there is plenty of time for anyone to enter the contest.

GAUNTLET UP

REPUBLICANS TAKE UP TARIFF WITH THE DEMOCRATS.

Are Willing to Make It An Issue in the Next General Campaign.

Washington, April 28.—Democrats in congress having decided that they will make the tariff their issue in the coming congressional campaign, and having put forward some of their best orators to manufacture campaign material on the subject, the Republicans have decided to meet them. When Mr. Hepburn of Iowa came to address the house on the subject of "protection to American industries" both floor and galleries were filled. Mr. Hepburn said he had no doubt that the next political contest would be over the question of protection, and he desired to show by the platform of the Democratic party before and after the war that they are "absolute free traders." Mr. Hepburn said that the Democratic party has now a triple-headed leadership, "Hoyan, Hearst & Co."

"No," we have Roosevelt with us," yelled Mr. Gaines, of Tennessee, amid applause from the Democratic side.

Mr. Hepburn closed with a tribute to the principles of protection, citing the "lean years" of free trade as against the "fat years" of the present tariff.

Representative Bontelle of Chicago took up the speech made by Representative Rainey of Illinois a day or two ago and demolished every straw bugaboo which the Democratic members from Illinois had set up. Mr. Rainey divided his argument between an assault on the "watch trust" and the tariff as a means of fostering trusts.

A CURIOUS VERIFICATION OF PROPHECIES.
Here are Spangler's prophecies for 1906, published at the beginning of the year in the New York World:

The dissolution of Russia.
The overthrow of Turkey.
The assassination of the czar of Russia.
The assassination of sultan of Turkey.

The prevention of three wars by President Roosevelt.
A protracted race war in the South.
Destructive spring floods in the United States.

A destructive eruption of Mount Vesuvius.
The activity of Mount Pelée and Popocatepetl.

Volcanic eruptions in all parts of the world.

The eruption of many volcanoes now supposed to be extinct.
Great loss of life at sea by storms.

Destruction of two Western cities by cyclones.

Earthquakes in all parts of the world.

Destructive earthquakes in California and the Philippines.
Rebellion in Spain.

Great disturbances all over Europe.

The summer of 1906 will be hot and sultry throughout the temperate zone, with extensive death rate.

Christ will make his spirit felt among the people of the United States and England, in which countries there are to be fervent religious and political movements which are to overcome in a great degree the present spirit of graft and commercialism.

The United States will continue as a world power and the leader of other nations.

Pennsylvania is to have an administration of the people that will drive some of the guilty to suicide.

God will wreak terrible vengeance upon the Russians for the massacre of the Jews.

THE PINK TERROR.

(Memphis Commercial-Appeal.)

The world has been so much occupied with the eruption of Vesuvius and the earthquake that has made a ruin of San Francisco that it has given but little attention to the insurrection in France, which has been heralded as the forerunner of another revolution. Our energetic contemporary, the New York Sun, in a recent issue, has a special cable from Paris taking up the larger part of its front page, in which it declares that France is in the gravest peril, that the law has bowed before the mob and the mining districts are in open revolt.

France is always an interesting country. Paris is the dynamo of the world's thought. From that city of light comes the best of dramas, much of the best literature of the day, the bright new ideas that percolate through the intellect of the civilized world. Paris provokes thought, inspires art and adds to the sum total of human joyousness. Whatever Paris thinks or does is of interest not only to France, but to all the great nations.

Is another French revolution on the tapis?

The actual situation in France must first be considered before we draw any conclusions. The separation law—by which church and state were to be divorced—seems to have been the starting point, though it can hardly be regarded as the origin of the trouble. It is true that attempts to enforce the law led to riots in some places, which the government made no attempt to suppress. This weakness has led to the industrial excesses that have been construed to portend a revolution.

There are a great many opportunists in France today who are looking for any sort of pretext to overturn the existing form of government. Hysterical individuals like Paul de Lardere want any sort of a change that will give them a chance to mount the muck heap. There are still some royalists in France who pine for a restoration. There are clericalists who oppose any movement seemingly against the church. There are socialists who favor a modification of government and there are anarchists who oppose all government.

The recruiting source for the present movement against the government seems to be organized labor, and the political opportunists who care no more for the workman than they do for the inhabitants of the cannibal islands have been trying to use the industrial classes to further their own selfish plans.

The Courrières catastrophe, in which many lives were lost, resulted in a strike of the miners. Some of those rescued three weeks after the disaster declared that the lives of many of their comrades were sacrificed by the operators, who were accused of covering certain shafts in order to smother the fire. It is said that this charge was not true, but it had the effect of setting the industrial classes aflame. Agitators and anarchists from Paris saw their opportunity, and they have been trying to make a revolution out of a strike.

Many disorders have resulted. Nearly 50,000 men were involved in the strike, and there have been riots throughout the mining district. Soldiers were sent to quell the disturbances, but were instructed not to fire upon the crowds. Clashes between mobs and troops have been frequent. The soldiers have obeyed orders, and the mobs, knowing that the military is practically disarmed, have been assaulting the troops with stones and other missiles. Many soldiers have been badly wounded and their lives have been imperiled, but never has the French soldiery given the world a finer exhibition of passive valor.

Clemenceau, the acknowledged lion of French politics, who has become minister of the interior under the new regime, has proven to be a lamb. He has tried to pacify the disturbances by waving his lily-white hands, but the red flag of anarchy has been raised.

A Judicial Privilege.
In a Southern court one day, says a well known attorney, one of the counsel paused in his argument, remarking to the judge:

"I observe that your honor shakes his head at that statement. I desire to reaffirm it, although your honor dissents."

"I am not aware," coldly responded the judge, "that I have intimated how I shall construe the evidence nor what my decision will be in the premises. Your remark is, therefore, entirely unavailing."

"Your honor shook his head," "True," said the judge, "there is a fly on my ear. And I'll have you know, sir, that I reserve the right to remove a fly in whatever manner pleases me."—Harper's Weekly.

Manma—"After the naughty little boy bit you on the nose, Tommy, did you hit him back?"

Tommy (sobbing):—"No-no, mamma. I hit him b-back t-first."

SITUATION IS QUITE THREATENING

Russia is Politically in Danger of Another Explosion.

Much Bad Feeling Created Over the Premature Knowledge of the New Constitution.

THOUSANDS OF IDLE WORKMEN

St. Petersburg, April 28.—The political situation in Russia has suddenly grown threatening. The publication of the draft of the new "Fundamental Law" or "Constitution" of Russia has aroused a storm of indignation and amidst the present general distrust of the government's motives has furnished just the stimulus needed to solidify the entire opposition in parliament.

The Reich insists that with the realization of the new Russian loan and under the false conviction that the revolution is suppressed "The Government has not hesitated to again show the cloven hoof, not even making its intention to dissolve parliament if it is found to be troublesome."

The Slovo calls the draft of the "Fundamental Law" a "Mockery which will be resented by every honest man, he a member of the 'Black Hundred' of a social revolutionist," adding:

"Such a mixture of lies and false logic on the eve of the assembling of the real masters of the empire can only tend to push the people to a fresh revolution with its attending conflicts and anarchy. The existing regime seems fated to go down in blood."

A real dangerous element in the situation, however, is not in the attitude of the liberals, but in the possibility of another upheaval from below at the very moment when the intellectual forces of the country had been united. For some time the social Democrats and other proletarian organizations have been trying to arrange a general uprising to coincide with the convocation of parliament, but apparently they were making no headway. Now, however, a great movement among the idle workmen of the capital, who number 12,000 has come to the surface and there is more than a suspicion that this movement is simply a cover for a real uprising which is being organized behind it. Big meetings of men out of work held in the suburbs during the last few nights were attended by orators of the social Democratic party.

A council of men out of work has also sprung into existence, like the famous workmen's council which directed the big strike of last fall. Proclamations have been issued calling upon all workmen to support the men out of work, who demand that the city within a week shall put them to work upon the construction of new street railways and bridges for which $1,000,000 has been appropriated. The men out of work also announce that they will send a delegation of 87 representatives to the city council tonight to receive the final answer of the municipality.

There is a striking analogy between the methods now employed by the workmen and those preceding "Red Sunday," January 22, 1905, and many people believe that they see in the new organization the hand of Gapon, all trace of whom is lost, though he is said to be in several places.

A wife with expensive tastes has a way of simplifying her husband's tastes amazingly.

FREE RELIEF WORK BY THE RAILROADS.
(From Chicago Record-Herald.)

In helping to relieve the suffering in San Francisco the railroads of the country are performing free of cost a service which would have a commercial value of at least $3,150,000. It is estimated, for example, that the relief work will cost the railroads which are in the system controlled by E. H. Harriman at least $75,000 daily for the next thirty days. This would make a total of $2,250,000. This sum, however, includes the cost to the railroads which deliver traffic to the Union Pacific at Omaha, including the Northwestern, the St. Paul, the Great Western, the Illinois Central and the Rock Island.

The estimate of the Santa Fe, which has its own lines from Chicago to San Francisco, is at least $25,000 daily, including the lines which turn over traffic to it at Chicago. The contribution of the Gould system, together with the lines which deliver traffic to it, is estimated to be $15,000 daily. Accordingly, it is said the railroads are performing free of cost a service daily which has a commercial value of at least $115,000, and this service will continue for at least thirty days.

These figures represent a dividend of nearly 4 per cent upon a capitalization of $100,000,000, or about the capitalization of the Harriman lines. The service which the latter are performing for the stricken city would pay a dividend of about 2 per cent upon the entire capitalization of the roads which compose the system. The commodities transported free are all high-class, and would make a very high rate, varying from $1.25 to $2 per 100 pounds from Chicago to the coast. The relief trains are not run as ordinary freight trains, but upon passenger train or express train schedules, thus adding to the expense.

To transport a train of provisions from Chicago to San Francisco on a passenger train schedule would cost a shipper between $9,000 and $12,000. If the cars were loaded each with 40,000 pounds of provisions at a rate of $1.25 per 100 pounds, it would cost $500 per car or $10,000, for a twenty car train. The enormous amount of equipment which will be required to handle this traffic must be taken out of other service.

In addition to the freight service, there is the free passenger service which the railroads are performing. Any one in San Francisco who is needy, can go free anywhere in the state on a railroad during the relief period. Trainloads of passengers are being transported from San Francisco free. In the end the railroads will receive an inestimable amount of tonnage for the rebuilding of the city. For example, it is estimated that 250,000 tons of steel will be needed immediately, so that the railroads will reap a rich reward.

THE PINK TERROR.
(From Chicago Record-Herald.)

The world has been so much occupied with the eruption of Vesuvius and the earthquake that has made a ruin of San Francisco that it has given but little attention to the insurrection in France, which has been heralded as the forerunner of another revolution. Our energetic contemporary, the New York Sun, in a recent issue, has a special cable from Paris taking up the larger part of its front page, in which it declares that France is in the gravest peril, that the law has bowed before the mob and the mining districts are in open revolt.

France is always an interesting country. Paris is the dynamo of the world's thought. From that city of light comes the best of dramas, much of the best literature of the day, the bright new ideas that percolate through the intellect of the civilized world. Paris provokes thought, inspires art and adds to the sum total of human joyousness. Whatever Paris thinks or does is of interest not only to France, but to all the great nations.

Is another French revolution on the tapis?

The actual situation in France must first be considered before we draw any conclusions. The separation law—by which church and state were to be divorced—seems to have been the starting point, though it can hardly be regarded as the origin of the trouble. It is true that attempts to enforce the law led to riots in some places, which the government made no attempt to suppress. This weakness has led to the industrial excesses that have been construed to portend a revolution.

There are a great many opportunists in France today who are looking for any sort of pretext to overturn the existing form of government. Hysterical individuals like Paul de Lardere want any sort of a change that will give them a chance to mount the muck heap. There are still some royalists in France who pine for a restoration. There are clericalists who oppose any movement seemingly against the church. There are socialists who favor a modification of government and there are anarchists who oppose all government.

The recruiting source for the present movement against the government seems to be organized labor, and the political opportunists who care no more for the workman than they do for the inhabitants of the cannibal islands have been trying to use the industrial classes to further their own selfish plans.

The Courrières catastrophe, in which many lives were lost, resulted in a strike of the miners. Some of those rescued three weeks after the disaster declared that the lives of many of their comrades were sacrificed by the operators, who were accused of covering certain shafts in order to smother the fire. It is said that this charge was not true, but it had the effect of setting the industrial classes aflame. Agitators and anarchists from Paris saw their opportunity, and they have been trying to make a revolution out of a strike.

Many disorders have resulted. Nearly 50,000 men were involved in the strike, and there have been riots throughout the mining district. Soldiers were sent to quell the disturbances, but were instructed not to fire upon the crowds. Clashes between mobs and troops have been frequent. The soldiers have obeyed orders, and the mobs, knowing that the military is practically disarmed, have been assaulting the troops with stones and other missiles. Many soldiers have been badly wounded and their lives have been imperiled, but never has the French soldiery given the world a finer exhibition of passive valor.

Clemenceau, the acknowledged lion of French politics, who has become minister of the interior under the new regime, has proven to be a lamb. He has tried to pacify the disturbances by waving his lily-white hands, but the red flag of anarchy has been raised.

FREE RELIEF WORK BY THE RAILROADS.
(From Chicago Record-Herald.)

In helping to relieve the suffering in San Francisco the railroads of the country are performing free of cost a service which would have a commercial value of at least $3,150,000. It is estimated, for example, that the relief work will cost the railroads which are in the system controlled by E. H. Harriman at least $75,000 daily for the next thirty days. This would make a total of $2,250,000. This sum, however, includes the cost to the railroads which deliver traffic to the Union Pacific at Omaha, including the Northwestern, the St. Paul, the Great Western, the Illinois Central and the Rock Island.

The estimate of the Santa Fe, which has its own lines from Chicago to San Francisco, is at least $25,000 daily, including the lines which turn over traffic to it at Chicago. The contribution of the Gould system, together with the lines which deliver traffic to it, is estimated to be $15,000 daily. Accordingly, it is said the railroads are performing free of cost a service daily which has a commercial value of at least $115,000, and this service will continue for at least thirty days.

These figures represent a dividend of nearly 4 per cent upon a capitalization of $100,000,000, or about the capitalization of the Harriman lines. The service which the latter are performing for the stricken city would pay a dividend of about 2 per cent upon the entire capitalization of the roads which compose the system. The commodities transported free are all high-class, and would make a very high rate, varying from $1.25 to $2 per 100 pounds from Chicago to the coast. The relief trains are not run as ordinary freight trains, but upon passenger train or express train schedules, thus adding to the expense.

To transport a train of provisions from Chicago to San Francisco on a passenger train schedule would cost a shipper between $9,000 and $12,000. If the cars were loaded each with 40,000 pounds of provisions at a rate of $1.25 per 100 pounds, it would cost $500 per car or $10,000, for a twenty car train. ## THE VELVET SECRET IS FREE TO YOU

THE LONGER THE LESSER—A WONDERFUL DISCOVERY

After many years of study and practice a prominent Virginia physician has discovered the cure for all forms of Constipation. It is called Chase's Constipation Tablet. "I do not mean," said the Virginia Doctor to several of his colleagues announcing his success—"that this is a take-cure-all, guaranteed to cure every thing from pimples to paralysis, neither do I mean just anther pill which breeds the pill habit; my remedy is a cure for one thing—a specific which never fails. By gently forcing the digestive organs so that they perform their natural functions. It restores them all to health and strength, relieves immediately and in a short time cures Constipation."

THE MORE THE LESS

"The more you take the less you need until you need none—for you are cured. My effort all along was to avoid the evil of the ordinary remedy which purges organs already weak and so makes the patient a slave to the pill. Remember—Nature expects every organ to do its duty."

Physicians have long recognized the fact that constipation is at the bottom of nearly every disease. It saps all energy and makes life a burden; it opens the doors to all evil germs and makes the body too weak to resist them.

This new discovery is in small tablets, easily taken, and they are packed in watch-chain bottles which fit the vest pocket. The tablet is mild, all vegetable, never grips or injures the most delicate organs. But it does the work! So naturally and soothingly they stimulate and regulate and strengthen that they have been nicknamed "The Little Velvet Workers."

Don't shuffle along with this great burden. Be healthy, be strong, be happy.

LIFE WORTH LIVING

No man or woman with torpid liver, constipated bowels and poisoned brain and nerves ever feels like that.

Go to your druggist and get a bottle of Chase's Constipation Tablets, and if after a fair trial you find the remedy is not all it is represented to be, your druggist will refund money without question or argument. In watch chain bottles, that fit the vest pocket, 25 cents.

COME BACK

IS THE MESSAGE FRISCOANS ARE SENDING TO REFUGEES.

San Francisco, Cal., April 25.—San Francisco has emerged from her ashes far enough to invite her citizens and the rest of the world except China to come back and try it again. This was just a week and a day from the date of the disaster, and her period of mourning was over. The embargo against public ingress was lifted, and all who would could go in and watch her begin all over. There was a tremendous rush from Oakland. They met another tide of fugitives as anxious to get away as they were to get in.

An official estimate today was that San Francisco had lost, temporarily at least, about 200,000 of her population. The estimate is probably very much to small.

Now that the exodus is easing up, various estimates are being made of the great heirla that began after the shock of last Wednesday. The Southern Pacific railroad has gathered together a list of those who have taxed its transit facilities to the utmost in their flight to other portions of the state and to cities in the east. From this table it appears that up to last Sunday night the number who went from the ruined city exceeded 225,000. One hundred and twenty-nine trains were brought into service to accommodate this vast army.

Doubtless many of these people will return when they have located their families in places of safety, to help in the restoration, but many may not again take up a permanent residence in San Francisco, and the indications are that the full population will be held back for perhaps a year or two. This will give great impetus to San Francisco's northern rivals, Seattle, Tacoma and Portland, and to Los Angeles. In the south, which, according to a census recently taken, was advancing in population with greater strides than any other city in the United States in proportion to its size.

Insurance Law Victory in New York.

(From Chicago Record-Herald.)
Despite all the influence that the president of the big New York insurance companies could bring to bear, and despite a vicious fight by the remnants of the corrupt organization in the state senate, it is now assured that all of the Armstrong-Hughes insurance bills will become law without material weakening. Two of these bills remain for final action by the lower house, but as they had previously passed that house, and as the senate's amendments are slight, no difficulty in agreement and final action is anticipated.

From Wednesday to Friday last week there was a bitter fight in the senate to strike out the clause in the "big" bill requiring publicity of policyholders' names. Publicity means that the officers of the companies will no longer have a monopoly of information in campaign for proxies when trustees are to be elected, and the senate gang loathes such publicity. By a vote of 26 to 24 the clause was struck out, but then came a rally of public opinion led by Governor Higgins, and the wolves of the senate were whipped so badly that only two of them were left to howl their negative on the final vote after a reconsideration. This was the last stand of the opposition.

It is a magnificent victory. With the New York legislature what it is, there was much reason to fear that even the present unexampled might of public wrath would fail to obtain the desired legislative results. New laws were sure, but would they ring true? The laws do ring true unless their most keen-witted advocates are sorely deceived. Practically the only radical change from the first drafts of the bills is that which allows a larger expenditure for new business than was first planned. And even here the greater falls far below the license of the past in this direction.

The new laws will make campaign contributions a crime not only for insurance companies but for all corporations except those of purely political character. Legislative expenditures must be a matter of public record. False statements are made criminal under provisions that can be rigidly enforced. Investments are confined to a safe basis. Subsidiary companies must go. The amount of new business is restricted. Rebates cannot survive the new penalties against them. Deferred dividend policies are forbidden. Standard policy forms are required. Control by policyholders is made as easily practicable as law can make it. And many other good safeguards for the policyholder are established.

The New York insurance laws set a standard for all the states, and as well for the federal government in its proposed District of Columbia law. None should fall below it.

Defective plumbing permits the entrance into the house of sewer gas bearing germs of contagious diseases to which the human system readily succumbs.

Sewer gas is not necessarily generated in the sewer, but is frequently created in the plumbing system within the home and enters the apartments through defective fixtures.

CHAPTER XXVI.

THE GOD IN THE MACHINE.

Uncle Peter next morning was up to a late breakfast with the stricken family. Percival found him a trifle less blither, but not less convinced in his despair. The young man himself had recovered his spirits wonderfully. Tho' utter collapse of the old man, always so reliant before, had served to fire all his latent energy. He was now voluble with plans for the future; not only determined to reassure Uncle Peter that the family would be provided for, but not a little anxious to justify the old man's earlier praise, and refute his calumnies of the night before.

Mrs. Bines, so complacent overnight, was the most disconsolate one of the group. With her low tastes she was now regarding the loss of the fortune as a calamity to the worthy infants of her own chosen field.

"And there, I had promised to give $5,000 to the new home for crippled children, and $5,000 to St. John's Guild for the floating hospitals this summer—just yesterday—and I do declare, I just couldn't stay in New York without money, and see those poor babies suffer."

"You couldn't stay in New York without money, Mrs. Good-thing," said her son—"not even if you couldn't see a thing; but don't you wretch on any of your plays—we'll make that ten thousand if I have to get a sandwich, and lay out a few of these lads around here some dark night."

"But anyway you can't do much to relieve them. I don't know but what it's honestest to be poor while the authorities allow such goings on."

"You have the makings of a very dangerous anarchist in you, ma. I've seen that for some time. But we're an honest family all right now, with the exception of a few properties that I'll have to sit up with nights—sit right by their sick beds and wake them up to take their money every half hour—"

"Now, my son, don't you get to going without your sleep," began his mother. "And wasn't it lucky about my sending that note to George? said Psycho, 'Here in this morning's paper we find he isn't going to be Lord Casselthorpe, after all. What could I have done if we hadn't lost the money?' From which it might be inferred that certain people who had declared Miss Bines to be very hard-headed were not so far wrong as the notorious 'casual observer' is very apt to be."

"Never you mind, sis," said her brother, cheerfully, "we'll be all right yet. You wait a little, and hear Uncle Peter take back what he's said about me. Uncle Peter, I'll have you talking off that hat of yours every time you get sight of me, in about a year."

The went again over the plans. The income from the One Girl was to be used in developing the other properties; the stock ranch up on the Bitter Root, the other mines that had been worked but little and with crude appliances; the irrigation and land improvement enterprises, and the big timber tracts.

"I got something of an idea of it when Uncle Peter took me around summer before last, and I learned a lot more getting the stuff together with Copley. Now, I'm ready to buckle down to it." He looked at Uncle Peter, hungry for a word of encouragement to soothe the hurts the old man had put upon him.

But all Uncle Peter would say was: "That sounds very well," compelling the inference that he regarded sound and substance as phenomena not necessarily related.

"But give me a chance, Uncle Peter. Just don't jump on me too hard for a year!"

"Well, I know that country. There's big chances for a young man with brains—understand?—that has got all the high-living nonsense blasted out of his upper levels—but it takes work. You may do something—there are white blackbirds—but you're on a nasty piece of road—curves all down on the outside—wheels flattened under every truck, and you've had her down in the corner so long I doubt if you can even slow up, say nothing of reversals. And think of me getting fooled that way at my time of life," he continued, as if in confidence to himself. "But then, I always was a terrible poor judge of human nature."

"Well, have your own way; but I'll fool you again, while you're coppering me. You watch, that's all I ask. Just sit around and talk wise about me all you want to, but watch. Now, I must go down and get to work with Fouts. Thank the Lord, we didn't have to wretch either, any more than Mrs. Give-up there did."

"You won't touch any more stock; you won't get that money from Shepherd?"

"I won't; I won't go near Shepherd. I promise you. Now you'll believe me in one thing, I know you will, Uncle Peter." He went over to the old man.

"I want to thank you for pulling me up on that play as you did last night. You saved me, and I'm more grateful to you than I can say. But for you I'd have gone in and dug the hole deeper." He made the old man shake hands with him—though Uncle Peter's hand remained limp and cheerless. "You can shake on that, at least. You saved me, and I thank you for it."

"Well, I'm glad you got some sense," answered the old man, grudgingly. "It's always the way in that stock game. There's always going to be a big killing made in Wall street to-morrow, only to-morrow never comes. Reminds me of Hollings' old turtlo out at Spokane—Hollings that keeps the Little Gem restaurant. He's got an enormous big turtle in his cellar that he's kept to my knowledge for 15 years. Every time he gets a little turtle from the coast he takes a can of red paint down cellar, and touches up the sign on old Ben's back—they call the turtle Ben, after Hollings' father-in-law that won't do a thing but lay around the house all the time, and kick about the mors. Well, the sign on Ben's back is, 'Green Turtle Soup to-morrow,' and Ben is dug up to the sidewalk in front of the Little Gem. And Hollings does have turtle soup next day, but it's always the little turtles that's killed, and old Ben is hiked back to his house to another killing comes off. It's a good deal like that in Wall street; there's killings made, but the big fellows with the signs on their back don't worry none."

"You're right, Uncle Peter. It certainly wasn't my game. Will you come down with me?"

"Me? Shucks, no! I'm just a poor, broken old man, now. I'm going down to the square if I can walk that far, and set on a bench in the sun."

Uncle Peter did succeed in walking as far as Madison square. He walked, indeed, with a step of amazing springiness for a man of his years. But there, instead of reposing in the sun, he entered a cab and was driven to the Vandevere building, where he sent in his name to Rulon Shepherd.

He was ushered into Shepherd's office after a little delay. The two men shook hands warmly. Uncle Peter was grinning now with rare enjoyment—he who had in the presence of the family shown naught but broken age and utter despondency.

"You rough-nosed the boy considerably yesterday."

"I never believed the fellow would hold on," said Shepherd. "I'm sure you're right in a way about the seat. There isn't another man in this section who'd have plunged as he did. He'll, my Mr. Bines, the street's never known anything like it. Here are those matters."

He handed the old man a dozen or so certified checks on as many different banks. Each check had many figures on it. Uncle Peter placed them in his old leather wallet.

"I know he'd plunge," he said, taking the chair proffered him, near Shepherd's desk. "I knew he was a natural born plunger, and I knew that once he gets an idea in his head you can't blast it out; makes no difference what he starts on, he'll play the string out. His pa was just that way. Then of course he wasn't used to money, and he was ignorant of this game, and he didn't realize what he was doing. He sort of distrusted himself along toward the last—but I kept him sweetened up good and plenty."

"Well, I'm glad it's over, Mr. Bines. Of course I concede the relative insignificance of money to a young man of his qualities."

"Not it's relative insignificance, Mr. Shepherd—it's plain damned insignificance, if you'll excuse the word. If that boy'd gone on he'd 'a' been one of what Billy Brue calls them high-collared Clarences—no good for anything but to spend money, and get apoplexy or worse by 40. As it is now, he'll be a man. He's got his health turned on like a steam radiator, he's full of responsibility, and he's really long-headed."

"How did he take the loss?"

"He acted just like a healthy baby does when you take one toy away from him. He cries a minute, then forgets all about it, and grabs up something else to play with. His other toy was bad. What he's playin' with now will do him a lot of good."

"He's not discouraged, then—he's really hopeful?"

"That ain't any name for it. Why, he's actin' this mornin' just like the world's his oyster—and every month had an 'r' in it at that."

CONSUMPTION'S WARNING

Inside facts soon become evident in outside symptoms.—Dr. G. G. Green.

The aid of scientific inventions is not needed to determine whether your lungs are affected. The first symptoms can be readily noted by anyone of average intelligence.

There is no disease known that gives so many plain warnings of its approach as consumption, and no serious disease that can be so quickly reached and checked, if the medicine used is Dr. Boschee's German Syrup, which is made to cure consumption.

It is in the early stages that German Syrup should be taken, when warnings are given in the cough that won't quit, the congestion of the bronchial tubes and the gradual weakening of the lungs, accompanied by frequent expectoration.

But no matter how deep-seated your cough, even if dread consumption has already attacked your lungs, German Syrup will surely effect a cure—as it has done before in thousands of apparently hopeless cases of lung trouble.

WHY GOOD MEN SHUN OFFICES.

Secretary Bonaparte Says It Is Because They Are Underpaid.

Atlantic City, N. J., April 28. — "Really first class men shun public employment in its higher grades because public offices of great responsibility are generally and grossly underpaid," said Secretary of the Navy Charles G. Bonaparte, in his address Thursday before the National Municipal League.

"A very little thought," said the secretary, "should serve to show that the trusts and the multi-millionaires get what they pay for and we get what we pay for likewise; the only difference is that they are sufficiently sensible to know they must pay for what they want in order to get it and we are sufficiently silly to think we can get what we want without paying fair value."

WILL NOT HEED RULE.

Missouri to Grant Divorce Record—less of Supreme Court.

St. Louis, April 28.—Procedure in Missouri divorce courts will not be altered by the decision of the United States supreme court, said Judge Sale of the circuit court today. While the federal constitution is no longer the basis for the validity of divorce decrees granted in other states, the judge said, the custom of the courts which has been in practice since the tribunals were established remains as a common ground on which to act.

TAFT BOOM ON ROOSEVELT LINES

Secretary War May be Heir to President's Place.

He is Advocating the Policies of His Chief and Winning Strength.

LEADERS ARE WATCHING HIM

Washington, April 23.—Secretary Taft's speech to the Yale students, scoring "muck rakers" and closely following other ideas promulgated by President Roosevelt in his address at the house of representatives office building cornerstone laying, has started a new chain of speculation regarding the presidential succession.

Some of the prophets, guessers and political logicians at the capital put two and two together today, and discovered in the secretary of war the man upon whom the president intends to confer the leadership in the coming fight for regulation of trusts, limiting of great fortunes and other reforms, which the executive has mapped out. For months, despite the president's protestations that he would not again be a candidate to succeed himself, scores of politicians in Washington have clung to the opinion that Mr. Roosevelt would be forced into the 1908 contest. After his famous "muck rake" speech, which followed immediately upon the announcement of a swing around the circle in the west next year, it was more than ever believed that the new issues created by the president would affect the situation.

Follows Roosevelt Lead.

The belief that President Roosevelt cannot avoid being a central figure before the next national convention still exists, but the similarity between the notable public utterances of the executive and his secretary of war is pointed to as an indication that the cabinet officer is being groomed for the Republican candidate two years hence in the event that the president is able to live up to his announced determination to retire. At any rate, it being certain that the new Rooseveltian ideas will come to the front as political issues, Secretary Taft has taken the earliest opportunity to assume part ownership therein.

One of the principal reasons deterring Secretary Taft from announcing his acceptance of the prospective vacancy on the supreme bench offered to him weeks ago, it is well understood, was the possibility of a turn of the political kaleidoscope, which would bring him within reach of the presidential nomination. He still has his string on the supreme court judgeship, and can make up his mind as to what he wants to do about it at any time before Justice Brown retires. And then, again, there is the probability of a later vacancy—perhaps of a higher position—on the supreme bench, which will come within President Roosevelt's present term. This might be at the disposal of Secretary Taft if he wished to wait longer than the date of Justice Brown's retirement to watch the whirligig of political fortune.

For Limit of Fortunes.

Secretary Taft now stands virtually where President Roosevelt stands as a champion of the somewhat radical scheme of limiting private fortunes through a tax on the transmission of wealth by inheritance or otherwise. Furthermore, the war secretary, both as a lawyer and as a judge, has pointed out that the right of property by descent is not an inalienable right. In other respects, Secretary Taft coincides with newly advanced Roosevelt ideas, notably with respect to the necessity of improvement in judicial procedure as a cure for the national ill instead of "muck rake" railing at everything in sight. Here are things regarded as future issues, and here is Secretary Taft in the forefront of the battle ground with the nation's chief.

It is regarded as possible that the president has encouraged Secretary Taft to take up the fight inaugurated by himself in the hope that he may fall heir to the mantle of party leadership. From what is known of the president's brotherly regard for his secretary of war it is understood that he would wish the latter to attain any ambition within his power, although with conditions equal as to the availability of either it might be hard for him to make a personal choice between the war secretary and Secretary of State Root.
